Two foot races, a wheelbarrow race and an egg race were held and cheers of the seated rows of men floated out into the street, where city police patrolled. Then members of the Vancouver Mothers' Council, who are supplying them with food and blankets, entertained with food and blankets.

Among the invited guests in the post-office last night was Allan McLean, assistant manager of the Georgia Hotel, which 300 other sit-down demonstrators left last Saturday when granted $500 by the city.

SAVED FROM MOB

SEATTLE (AP)—Joseph Taylor, 33, negro, was saved from a mob of 100 irate men in downtown Seattle last night when he fled a cardroom after stabbing Paul Woodford, 37, of Okanogan, in a card game argument.

Detective Lieutenant Ernest Winters said Taylor confessed stabbing the Okanogan man.

APPEAL FOR RAIL WORKERS

Senators Hear Graham Speak For Those Facing Loss of Jobs

OTTAWA (CP)—The senate railway committee's placid atmosphere was ruffled today when Chairman George P. Graham, Liberal, Brockville, Ont., protested that in all the schemes so far presented "to have money for men who already had money," little heed was given to the poor man or the railway worker.

"There is no trying to avoid it," he said. "Every dollar saved must be saved out of some part of the expenditures. The large part of these is for labor. If you are going to look after labor efficiently and sufficiently, you are not going to make any savings."

"If that idea prevails, this committee might as well rise," said Senator James A. Calder, Conservative, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Graham's statement came shortly after Senator James Murdoch, Liberal, Ottawa, had read a letter from a resident of Homebush, Ont., which set forth the added burden the townspeople would have to bear if the railway was abandoned there.

B.C. PLANE CRASH IS INVESTIGATED

Baker said he passed over the spot where Elliott and Mrs. East were lying two hours before he landed to pick them up. The pilot and his passenger saw him, and spent two hours with "heart-breaking misgivings" before he taxied to the shore nearby.

The Canadian Airways pilot was to take off for the accident scene later today with R. Carter, guest, inspector of civil aviation for British Columbia and the Yukon, who came here from Vancouver.

The body of Dan Miner will be brought here on the return trip.

SUDDENLY DROPPED

Martin told how the ship suddenly nosed down and crashed in the lake 10 feet from the shore line. He suffered scalp wounds and bruises. Mrs. East suffered head injuries and bruises on her arms and legs. Pilot Elliott, a Vancouver man, suffered head injuries.

JAMMED IN CABIN

Mining was jammed into a corner of the cabin as the plane hit the water and turned over. Pilot Elliott took off from Fort St. James Sunday with his two passengers and the mechanic. Mrs. East was rejoining her husband, a mining man at German Landing, near Takla Lake, and Miner was returning to his prospecting after a trip to the "outside."

Martin said the first thing he remembered after the plane struck was he was in the water inside the cabin. He came up to find about one foot of headroom and heard Mrs. East screaming.

The mechanic opened the door of the plane while Mrs. East held unconscious Pilot Elliott's head above water.

Martin got them both to the top of the plane and went back inside the ship, but failed to find Miner. He then succeeded in getting Mrs. East and Elliott to shore. After making them comfortable he set out for aid.

HAZARDOUS MERCY TRIP

Dizzy and bleeding from head wounds, the mechanic pushed on through the bush country all afternoon and finally reached Middle River, where he found an abandoned outboard motor.

Unable to get it started, the mechanic took the motor apart and overhauled it on the shore. Further searching revealed an old Indian dugout canoe and he attached the overhauled motor to the craft and started out again.

All day Monday Martin drove the strange craft up river and across Trembleur Lake and up the Tachie River to Stuart Lake. Cutting down to the head of the lake, he reached Fort St. James late yesterday.

Tumbling ashore, Martin told Pilot Baker of the crash and advised him how to find the ship as he was too weak to accompany the rescue flyer.

Arriving at the crash scene, Pilot Baker found Mrs. East and Pilot Elliott in a state of collapse from their injuries and exposure. They had been without food or even matches to light a fire since Martin had left them. All supplies had been aboard the plane. Baker and his air engineer put Mrs. East aboard and then brought the seriously injured Elliott from shore on an improvised stretcher.

Martin was picked up on the return trip at Fort St. James, and all were flown to the hospital here, landing last night.

UNIFIED CONTROL OR RAILS MUST CUT OWN OUTLAYS, SAYS BEATTY

CAPITAL OF $20,000,000

A great deal of work would still have to be done on the railways under the plan because railway construction never ceased. The new company would need a working capital of $20,000,000.

The labor situation would not be difficult. Turnover of employees was about 5 per cent a year. The process of "attrition" reflected by the retirement of aged workers, the extension of the formative period of the unification plan from five to seven years, and limitation to taking on new employees would solve the labor situation without any ill-effects.

Sir Edward did not disclose the basis on which net earnings might be split between the unified companies, beyond saying that up to a certain point there would be no division in conformity with the value contributed by each. After that the division would be 50-50.

He did not ask for any guarantee to the C.P.R. bondholders or shareholders, believing so firmly in the successful issue of unification that demand for such guarantee was unnecessary.

The directorate, he believed, would remove the railway from political influence. He could not see any danger of their controlling the livelihood of nearly 200,000 employees. He himself had never known how C.P.R. workers voted, and he was not interested.

CHIEF POINTS

In submitting his plan Sir Edward listed five points he regarded as vital to unification. They were:

1. The two railway companies should continue to own their present properties. The securities of the companies would remain in their present ownership. No question is involved of the value of the properties or of any new capital set-up.

2. No guarantee should be given to the Canadian Pacific of a return on its stock or other capital issues. "I say this because I am convinced that no guarantee of interest on the debentures stock and bonds of the Canadian Pacific will be necessary. As to dividends on the stock I do not see that it is necessary to give shareholders any protection beyond a reasonable opportunity for the company which they own to earn a reasonable profit."

DIVISION OF EARNINGS

3. Each group of owners should continue to receive under unification the net earnings which past experience indicates their company would have received as an independent institution, and that the additional net earnings made available by unification be shared between them on an equitable basis.

"I assume that the government would directly receive at least half of these savings. These details, of course, could only be determined at the time of the formal contract."

4. Adequate provision should be made to prevent the unified company from neglecting its duty as a public utility and depriving any community of necessary railway service. "This, of course, can be easily arranged by adding, if necessary, to the strength and power of the Board of Railway Commissioners. I may remind you that the board among its very powers today controls the cancellation of trains, the closing of stations and the abandonment of lines."

5. Adequate provision should be made to protect the rights of railway workers.

FAIR RETURN

Sir Edward said unification would permit the Canadian Pacific to earn a fair return on prudently invested capital. "I am confident that I do not need to impress upon you the importance of this to the nation as well as to the investors themselves," he said.

By stabilizing the railway industry, unification would aid in freeing the railways of the imminent danger of forced abandonment of light traffic lines to an increasing extent. "So much has been said of the mileage to be abandoned under unification that I should like to remind you that both railway systems are increasingly pressed by financial exigencies to search for opportunities for line abandonment, and that, despite certain difficulties in obtaining permission for their abandonments, they are becoming inevitable," said Sir Edward.

"I am afraid I much regret to say it—that there are many established communities in Canada which will not be able to obtain regular railway service in the future unless something be done to free both railway companies from their present financial stresses."

WIDER POWERS

Sir Edward said that to avert dangers of monopolistic control the Railway Board could have its powers increased.

The alternative to unification was that the railways continue to drag along with insufficient earnings, effecting "distress economies."

Sir Edward was opposed to increased rates, believing the railways would lose more than they gained.

"The only reason for accepting unification is that it is in the national interest, and it is in the national interest because every measure which will reduce the cost of carrying on the vital task of transportation in Canada is in the national interest," Sir Edward said.

"It is in the national interest because the public finances of this country need relief that I have come to the conclusion that unification cannot be avoided."

"I have never welcomed unification. The Canadian Pacific is a highly developed organization and an object of pride to all its officers and employees. Under unification it will lose its identity and that is a real loss to those of us who have spent a lifetime in its service."

"Far from eagerness, as my critics have it, to seize the publicly-owned system," said Sir Edward, "I feel deep regret that only by unification, can we remove the greatest danger of which I know to the future of the nation. In a recent public address I said that unification is inevitable. The public need compels it."

QUESTIONS ASKED

Following his reading of his 9,000-word brief, Sir Edward, was asked by Mr. Biggar "to discuss some details of the $75,000,000 economies." He suggested Sir Edward discuss co-operation with the matter of compulsion vested in an independent body that takes the initiative to order co-operation.

"My own objection to that," said Sir Edward, "is that it devolves on an independent tribunal responsibility for management without responsibility for results."

Mr. Biggar suggested failure to effect more co-operative economies had been due to disagreements arising out of the officers of the two companies being unwilling to do anything "that is going to constitute a mutilation of the railways." Would Sir Edward's plan not effect just that?

Sir Edward agreed this would be done "to a certain extent." But both were interested in the common results.

"Would unification be an added burden to the government in connection with C.N.R. deficits?" asked Senator J. T. Haig, Conservative, Winnipeg.

"No, sir. It would be a relief," Sir Edward replied.

To another questioner he said unification contemplated only the Canadian lines of the C.P.R. Sir Edward was subjected to close examination by Col. O. M. Biggar, committee counsel, and members of the Senate. Their questions covered all phases of the brief he had read earlier.

SHARE OF BUSINESS

Asked if the Dominion Bureau of Statistics statement, to the effect the railways were getting less than their share of the country's business, was serious, Sir Edward replied, "not altogether." The roads were suffering to an extent from trucks and private car competition. The water transportation competition had "always been there."

Western Canada was greatly opposed to unification on the ground the largest saving would be in employees' wages, said Senator Haig. He asked for more details.

The labor problem was not serious, Sir Edward said. There were three ways of handling it. The age limit for retirement could be reduced; provision might be made for an allowance after a period of years, or the formative period of unification could be extended to seven years.

Those joining the league are asked to sign a pledge to "uphold British institutions and ideals" and oppose the movements named.

VIEWS DIFFER ON FOREIGN POLICY

as well as men should be conscripted.

In presenting his view of world conditions and his long-promised statement on foreign policy, Mr. King said the government's objective was to be friendly with all nations and to refrain from war—like talk or criticism of other countries.

SHARPLY DENOUNCED

Into this calm pool of thought Mr. Bennett dropped a bitter denunciation of Japanese invasion of China to prosecute a destructive war that was "undeclared, unwarranted and unprovoked."

When Mr. Bennett assumed the government was condoning Japan's action the Prime Minister hastened to deny it and to declare he agreed entirely that Japan's action should be denounced.

Mr. Bennett had preceded his remarks with the statement that he was speaking for himself and not for his party, which would meet shortly in national convention to adopt new policies, including one on foreign affairs.

Japan also figured in a brief debate during the hour for private bills. One measure designed directly to prevent Japanese immigration by 79 to 42 votes, and another to effect the same end indirectly, was talked out. Both were sponsored by A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, contributed to the debate the statement that since the Great War, Britain had saved the world from war twice.

He hesitated to speak of what might be confidential, but he had heard two British cabinet ministers comment on criticism of the British action regarding the Italian invasion of Ethiopia. They said certain nations had urged them to go to war, but when they were asked what help they would give had declined to furnish any.

NO ADVICE OFFERED

With respect to relations with the Empire, Mr. King said Canada did not offer advice to the United Kingdom and did not feel bound by the United Kingdom's decisions.

"Our foreign and external policy is one of peace and friendliness—a policy of trying to look after our own interests and to understand the position of other governments with which we have dealings," the Prime Minister said in his general statement.

"It is not and cannot be a headline policy. It is simply the sum of the countless daily dealings with other countries, the general result of an effort to act decently and a hope of receiving the same treatment from others."

Canada had no ambitions requiring aggression or expansion for their fulfillment. No grudges nor envy and no desire to interfere with the destiny of other nations. "We know and the world knows that we have neither the power nor the will to attack any land for our own ends. Nor are we inclined to organize or join crusades."

"Any danger of attack on Canada is minor in degree and speed-of-hand in origin. It is against chance shots that we have to defend ourselves." The truth of this is recognized in every country.

FATE OF OTHERS

He declared that "we cannot be indifferent to the fate of democratic institutions, the suffering of unfortunate minorities elsewhere. But we must keep a sense of perspective."

"Resolutions, or speeches on affairs in Austria or Spain or Santo Domingo may afford an emotional outlet, but they do not give our country any power to shape the destiny of other peoples."

"We have a tremendous task at home. Our 11,000,000 people are trying to develop half a continent, to find a decent living, to build a distinctive national life."

The world was disturbed and seemingly chaotic, the Prime Minister said. Force was openly glorified and solemn pledges were "disregarded. Armaments were mounting to fantastic heights. The air was filled with propaganda."

NO SANCTIONS

As to the League of Nations, he said Canada would not be drawn into war through application of sanctions by the League, because the sanctions articles of the League covenant, by general practice and consent, were no longer effective.

An embargo on the export of materials to Japan would have no effect on the Chinese conflict. Mr. King cited trade figures to show this and said representations favoring an embargo were based on a misrepresentation of the situation.

Briefly, the Canadian government believes the only feasible and constructive basis of League of Nations activity under present conditions," said Mr. King, "is to develop all its possibilities of co-operation, all its possibilities of co-operation in agreed tasks, all its possibilities of shaping and focusing world opinion.

One of several suggestions as to Canada's policy, said Mr. King, was that it had also been suggested Canada should declare neutrality in any future conflict. That would be the hands of Parliament and the unwelcome encouragement to potential aggressors.

The government took the position "that Parliament will decide upon our course when and if the emergency arises, in the light of all the circumstances at the time."

"In the meantime we should endeavor to keep informed on the situation, to keep in touch with the United Kingdom and other countries striving for peace, to carry through a reasonable and effective defence program of our own, to support any constructive program of conciliation and removal of economic barriers to peace and to strive in our own relations to build up friendships which will serve our need and the need of others."

BENNETT'S VIEWS

Conservative Leader Bennett reduced the whole question of Canada's foreign policy to what he declared to be the fact that if the Empire was at war Canada would be called on at least to defend herself or surrender.

There was no alternative to that except separation from the Empire and he hoped he would never see that come to pass. Canada had won a high place among the trading nations of the world because she was a part of the Empire. The British navy protected her trade routes.

Mr. Bennett agreed the League of Nations was unlikely ever to involve Canada in a war because "the League has fallen to pieces and ceased to function for the purposes for which it was created."

He agreed also that Canada was unlikely ever to be forced into conflict because of conduct of her own affairs. But he did not agree she was unlikely to be attacked. If the Empire or any of its members were at war Canada would be attacked by the common enemy and no action of Parliament could prevent it.

It was idle to talk of Parliament deciding whether or not Canada would go to war. If the emergency arose and the Crown were attacked, Canada would be at war automatically. The only decision would be what steps if any would be taken for defence.

Canada was on an equal status with other members of the Commonwealth, but the Westminster Statute of 1926, making her independent, had also declared she was freely associated with other members of the family of nations and with common allegiance to the Crown.

That association involved Canada making common cause with other member nations and there was no escaping it except by separation.

MINES NEAR COAST

"I wonder how many realize that in the Great War mines were laid a few miles off the coast of Nova Scotia and ships sunk," he said.

"I wonder how many realize how completely a few batteries on Anticosti Island could dominate the Gulf of St. Lawrence—how a few shells from 10 miles out at sea could render cities uninhabitable because of destruction of sanitary facilities."

"Parliament did not place those mines off the Nova Scotia coast. They were placed there by the German high command."

"Parliament never makes a foreign policy. That is done by the advisers of His Majesty and Parliament says 'yea' or 'nay,' he said.

As to Germany now, he said:

"Today, sir, I say deliberately that the German will or mind is a will for war; it is not a will for peace. My observation as well as my reading leads me to that conclusion...."

"In this very country there are emissaries of Germany—I say on my responsibility as a member of this House—talking to minorities about their rights."

"I hold strong views personally with respect to the Sino-Japanese situation. I listened with great attention to the language of the Prime Minister. I must say that I found it a little difficult to agree with him."

Regarding Japan, Mr. Bennett said:

"Speaking now for myself alone, I say I cannot bring myself to a state of mind other than a feeling of deep-rooted resentment against the violation of its plighted word by that great people—the Japanese people—who have invaded China, sacked its cities, murdered its civilians and now talk in Canada about the ultimate defeat of their enemy and victory for themselves."

Prime Minister King interrupted at this point to deny he had "condoned Japanese action."

"I hope no word of mine," he said, "can be construed as in any way condoning what Japan has done. The very opposite is the case. I agree with him (Mr. Bennett) entirely in his denunciation of the action that Japan has taken. No words of mine are capable of the interpretation that is being put upon them."

DEFENCE VOTES

Mr. Woodsworth said he was interested in the opinion of the Prime Minister that Canada was not likely to be attacked in view of the fact that reasons for large appropriations for defence recently had been based on the danger of attack.

Mr. Woodsworth thought the government should say at once to the United Kingdom that Canada would or would not assist in the event of war involving the Empire.

While the policy of the C.C.F. was to remain neutral in all wars and to take armed action only in defence of Canada, Mr. Woodsworth would prefer to see an international police army rather than great national war machines.

MAN IS SLAIN IN WILD FIGHT

Body Found Hanging on Tree 18 Miles From Spokane

SPOKANE (AP)—Brutally battered, the body of a man identified as John Brule, who had been registered at a Spokane hotel, was found today hanging from the limb of a tree near the Spokane Bridge, about 18 miles east of here.

Deputy Sheriff Mons Ulvin said the man had been beaten to death and then hanged from a low limb with the knees touching the ground.

Identification was made through a bank book which showed he had deposited $1,895 in a Spokane bank May 4. There was $80 in the pockets when the body was found.

Ulvin said there was no immediate information on what the man did or what his relationships were.

Officers were baffled in their search for a motive. Blood over a 90-foot radius and tramped grass testified to a terrific struggle. Officers found two stones which apparently were used to batter the victim's head.

The man was hanged by a belt at the picnic grounds at the edge of the river.

At the hotel where Brule had been registered once in April and from May 3 to 7 after paying a week's rent in advance, employees said he was a man of mystery to them. They said they never had seen him with other persons and he disclosed nothing of himself.

Officers expressed the opinion the man had been dead about 24 hours.

SPORTS DAY AT DUNCAN

DUNCAN—Duncan elementary school annual sports day was celebrated Monday on the Cowichan Cricket and Sports Club grounds. H. E. Blanchard, the principal, and all other teachers assisted. There were over 100 events. Winners of the various cups were as follows:

I.O.D.E. awards—Senior girls, Moira Chang (also winner of challenge cup for best aggregate); senior boys, B. Fielden; intermediate girls, Dora Chang (challenge cup also); intermediate boys, Donald Gard; junior girls, Dorothy Herd (challenge cup also); junior boys, J. Shortreed; primary girls, Beverly Taylor (challenge cup also); primary boys, Peter Gard.

Consolidated School Shield—Division 2, 120½ points; division 3, 73 points.

O. T. Smythe, chairman of the board of school trustees, presented the prizes.

New Study Of Heart Failure

Royal Society, Meeting in Ottawa, Told of Experiments

OTTAWA—How the heart "fails" when its own special artery is blocked was described before the meeting of the Royal Society of Canada here this morning by Dr. C. H. Best and Dr. D. Y. Solandt of the Connaught Laboratories, Toronto.

Dr. Best is one of the discoverers of insulin. One of the most frequent causes of death from heart failure is coronary thrombosis, which is the blocking of the coronary artery. That artery is the heart's private pipe-line for its own blood supply. Anything that stops it up is an almost certain cause of death.

Drs. Best and Solandt provoked coronary thrombosis in laboratory animals by injecting, near a main artery, small doses of sodium ricinoleate. This is a compound of an exceedingly poisonous drug found in the leaves of the castor bean.

Two of the effects observed in the research were a violent disturbance of the electrical charge in the muscular walls of the heart and an exceedingly rapid degenerative change in the muscle cells. Their findings are aimed at a better understanding of the nature of this lethal malady, with the hope of eventual better control.

HOW MEAT GETS TOUGH
A study of death on an entirely different yet important plane was reported to the Royal Society by Dr. W. H. Cook and Dr. L. Sair of the National Research Council of Canada. Their research was on changes taking place in meat after killing.

The advantage of the quick-freezing method for the preservation of meat, they found, lies largely in the fact that it immobilizes the water before it gets a chance to ooze out of the cells. In slow-frozen meat, or meat kept for a time without freezing at all, the fluids exude—a process called "drip"—by the packers. "Drip" is accompanied by a decrease in the alkalinity of the meat, which in turn is tied up with a particular critical point in the electrical charge found in all living tissues.

Envoys Urged To Cease Attacks

Premier King in Commons Criticizes Japanese and Chinese Spokesmen

OTTAWA (CP)—Baron Shu Tomii, newly-appointed Japanese minister to Canada, who arrived in Ottawa Monday, was wrong in delivering in Canada his opinions on the war between China and Japan, three party leaders agreed in the House of Commons yesterday.

J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, at the opening of the sitting called attention to a newspaper interview given by the Baron at Niagara Falls in which he was quoted as approving of statements made by Prime Minister King.

Mr. King had no objection to that, but later, when Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, made a protest against the Japanese minister saying Japan would defeat China, a nation it was bound by treaty to protect, Mr. King said he had not seen the dispatch and agreed that such comments were out of place.

The Chinese consul on arriving in Ottawa some time ago had also made statements about the war which were considered objectionable. Mr. King hoped the representatives of the two countries, each having attacked the other in Canada, would refrain from further remarks of the kind.

NO SUCH STATEMENT
The Japanese minister, Mr. Woodsworth said, was quoted in the Niagara Falls interview, as saying he did not remember Mr. King's exact words "but they were to the effect that Canadian people should be very careful in making remarks concerning the hostilities now going on in China."

Mr. King, after looking up the interview, said he had never made a statement to that effect. "I am wholly opposed to any minister representing a foreign government coming to this country and saying his government proposes to defeat a country which is a member of the League of Nations," Mr. Bennett said, "particularly when a committee of the League decided the attack was unprovoked and unjustified."

Japan had signed a document guaranteeing with the Dominion of Canada the integrity of China. "I am not one of those who believe that you serve any useful purpose by forgetting your own dignity and the honor of your own country in order to placate any power, however powerful it may be."

"I feel perfectly certain that in our desire to maintain neutrality the Canadian people have no desire, in the interest of trade expansion or otherwise, to sacrifice their sense of national honor and of the decencies of international relations."

New Wage Basis For Coal Miners

Settlement of 10-month Controversy on This Island Announced

NANAIMO (CP)—A 10-month controversy between Vancouver Island coal miners and operators was ended yesterday after a tentative agreement, providing for a 5 per cent wage increase, was signed.

Announcement of the settlement was made here last night by Patrick Conroy, vice-president of District 18, United Mine Workers of America.

Last August a Dominion government labor conciliation board, presided over by L. W. Brockington, K.C., of Winnipeg, was asked to arbitrate the differences. "A tentative agreement, ending October 31, 1938, has been arrived at on a straight basis of a 5 per cent increase, including all classes of labor," Conroy announced.

In addition to this agreement contract work will be experimented with during this period, under which any worker on contract unable to earn the day wages now being paid by the companies will be granted such a wage plus a 5 per cent increase, he said.

Conroy said the reason for the contract experiment was to determine what a miner could make by this method and to find out if contracts would be satisfactory for both the companies and the miner.

"In the meantime," he said, "in view of the complex nature of the wage structure, both the union and the companies will work in conjunction and rearrange certain classifications of labor having in mind the elimination of unnecessary classifications and striking a whole uniform rate of the particular classes of work affected."

CO-OPERATIVE MOVE

Conroy said that further to complete the work of the board an investigation of company operations would be conducted by mining engineers and a firm of chartered accountants. He said it was a co-operative gesture of the union and the company.

The investigators will report to the board, whose summing up will be the basis of recommendations for a future permanent contract.

"Negotiations for such contracts will commence not later than September 15 and the union has agreed to set up a representative committee to co-operate with the companies to serve the best interests of the coal industry of the island," Conroy said.

Approximately 2,000 men are affected in the agreement between the union and the two major operators on the island, Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. and the Western Fuel Corporation of Canada Ltd.

Company officials had no immediate comment.

Racing the engine of an old car before putting it away for the night, in the hope that the gas line will remain in the cylinders, is useless. The cylinders, because of the wear, will not hold the gasoline.

The calcium chloride and the rock salt that is thrown on the streets of the cities during the winter have a very harmful effect on the lacquer finish and on the chromium of the body of your car.

Washington Expects Trade Treaty to Benefit Agra-rians Greatly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The forthcoming Anglo-American trade agreement will cut into Great Britain's preferential tariff agreements with the Dominions, United States officials said today.

The Ottawa agreement, negotiated in 1932, gave preferential treatment to Dominion farm products in Britain's market places and to British factory goods in the Dominion markets.

The American trade agreement with the United Kingdom and another agreement being negotiated simultaneously with Canada will materially lower these preferences, officials predicted.

The United States thus would be better able to compete with the Dominions in selling agricultural products to Britain and with the United Kingdom in selling manufactured products to the Dominions. All this, it is believed, will come about in July.

CONSULTATIONS

Negotiations with Britain involve a factor not found in those with other countries—Britain's necessity for consulting with Canada and the other Dominions before granting agricultural concessions to the United States.

United States negotiators expect to receive telling tariff reductions on agricultural products. Great Britain last year took one-third of all agricultural exports of the United States.

Reductions are almost certain on a wide variety of fruits, particularly apples, as well as on lumber and machinery.

The United States in return is considering reductions on leather and leather goods and on textiles. Tariff cuts on American tobacco are doubtful, because of Britain's efforts to develop her own tobacco brands.

A Pullman in His Own Home

For 25 years George L. Weiss of Long Beach, Calif., rode the Pullmans as a traveling salesman. Then he retired—only to find that he couldn't sleep in an ordinary bed. So what did he do but build the complete sleeping car section shown above, right in his own home. Weiss is pictured making up the upper berth preparatory to catching some sleep in the manner to which he has become accustomed.

"I've been working for a few years . . . still single. Married or single however, I am going to have an income of my own which I can enjoy to the full when I am 55 or 60 . . . My Canada Life policy will take care of that."

"I'm putting in quarters now so I can take out dollars later . . . I advise every business woman to do the same. The sooner she starts saving a little of her money this way, the less she will have to put by from each salary cheque."

Sound advice. And it is surprising just how many "future dollars" your quarters will make.

It Looked Bad Then, Too

THE PUBLISHING HOUSE OF HARPER and Brothers the other-day dug up an editorial from Harper's Weekly, printed on October 10, 1887, and for one reason and another it makes especially interesting reading at this moment.

"It is a gloomy moment in history," lamented the editor in 1887. "Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future looked so incalculable as at this time."

"In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment and without the prospect of it."

"In France the political cauldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly disturbed relations in China."

The editor went on at considerable length in this vein, and his conclusion was that times were parlous and that there was little hope in this world; but if he lived long enough he assuredly saw the storm clouds of 1887 dissipated and came out into a world wherein a man could be fairly satisfied with the present and decently hopeful about the future.

The interesting thing about it, of course, is the fact that we would need to change only half a dozen words or so in order to make that old Harper's Weekly screech perfectly timely for use today.

Once more we live amid "grave and deep apprehension." Once more the future has "seemed incalculable." Once more we suffer from "commercial prostration and panic." The French political cauldron is seething and bubbling again, Russia is still a dark cloud, the British Empire is still being sorely tried—and so on and so on, sentence by sentence.

But somehow the world did live through 1887 and the dire events which lay on 1887's horizon, and became a better and happier place.

Would one be a fatuous optimist to suggest that we shall ultimately be able to say the same thing of 1938 and its troubles?

Australia Taking Immigrants

TO HOLD THE COUNTRY FOR THE white race against the Oriental, the Australian government has launched a plan to subsidize immigration from the United Kingdom. It is being opposed, however, by the joint executive of the Melbourne Trades Hall Council and the Victoria Labor Party. The arguments are similar to those we are familiar with in Canada. They agree that Australia must admit "suitable immigrants at a suitable time," but they believe that systematically encouraging immigration at a time when large numbers of Australians are on relief, should be preceded by certain legislative measures.

They demand as a balance to stimulated immigration the adoption of the 44-hour week and a system of land settlement and marketing plans to give the sons of Australian farmers a chance to establish themselves in branches of production with which they are more familiar than people overseas.

The government, on the other hand, supported by such organizations as the Big Brother Movement, the Salvation Army, the Young Men's Christian Association and various church bodies, declares there is a real need for domestic and young farm workers. Accordingly, it has made financial arrangements with these other bodies to finance the importation of large parties of child and youth migrants to Australia. The British and the Commonwealth governments pay for passages on a pound for pound basis.

We Are Government

IT WAS THE BUSINESS OF UNITED States citizen Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, to pass money out rather than take it in. He does receive some money once in a while, however, and it is doubtful that he ever had a more significant cheque than the one he received recently from a worker by the name of Fred Hohner.

Fred Hohner is an unemployed mechanic living in Newark, N.J. In 1935 he had no help from the WPA. Since then he has not needed any help; but he never could forget that he had help when he needed it, and so the other day he set out to square the account. He had $112 at the time—and no job. But he went down to a post office and bought a money order for $10, and then mailed it to Hopkins. "My money was getting so low that if I hadn't paid it when I did I might have had no money to pay," he explained. "The government did its best to me, and I wanted to do my best to the government."

The obvious comment on this, of course, is that it is a pity many more people do not have the same kind of conscience that Fred Hohner has. Thousands upon thousands of people have been helped by our own Canadian governments in the last five or six years; only a few have remembered to pay back after they got on their own feet again. That does not mean that most people are ungrateful. It simply means that very few of us ever realize just what these governments of ours really are. They are not things which exist by themselves, independent entities which float cloudily in the sky over Ottawa or any or all the provincial capitals and shower down blessings every so often. They are ourselves—John Smith and his fellow citizens.

So when "the government" does something for a man—provides a job for him, pays his rent, bails out his business, or whatever—what is actually happening is that that man's fellow citizens are coming to his rescue. Perhaps people like Fred Hohner recognize that fact. If so, it is a little easier to see why they insist on repaying what they have received. We would have a much clearer perspective on the various activities of our governments, and of our own obligations toward them, if we shared in that recognition of its true essence.

Victoria Likes Its 24th

THERE IS ROOM FOR MORE CELEBRATIONS in Victoria and there is no need to drop May 24 to make celebrations later in the year a success. That the citizens look forward to May 24 was shown by the large crowds attending yesterday's events and the enthusiasm of those who took part under perfect May weather.

To school officials, compliments are due for the colorful pageant so well presented at Royal Athletic Park. Seven hundred happy children seemed to enjoy the proceedings as much as the 1,500 spectators. A big sports program at the Willows provided an enjoyable afternoon for thousands of other citizens. Beacon Hill Park, especially for the fireworks display, had a holiday atmosphere. Sportsmen enjoyed their own events. Altogether, there was variety to appeal to all tastes.

Commendable were the arrangements whereby members of every family in Victoria, whatever the state of their finances, could join in the celebrations. Alderman W. H. Davies and the committee which supported him as chairman, are to be congratulated on their contribution to the success of the day.

"Resources Butchers"

BECAUSE A POINT MADE IN C. M. Campbell's article in the current Maclean's cannot be overemphasized for the people of British Columbia, we quote a paragraph in full:

"Westward the course of timber depletion takes its way. This sentence sums up the recent evidence of E. C. Manning, chief forester for British Columbia, before the Forestry Committee of the Legislature. Half a century ago the harbor of St. John, N.B., was surrounded by lumber mills, and lumber rafts were characteristic of the Ottawa River. Those days are long past. Today the Pacific Coast leads in timber depletion. Two decades ago sawmills were running at Fernie, Waldo, Jaffrey, Bull River and other points in East Kootenay. At one time 500 men worked at Bull River; this watershed is now cut and the mill idle. As recently as 1925, 500 men were employed at Yahl, but Yahl will soon repeat the history of Bull River. The operations at Canal Flats, now employing 350 men, will be through in 1945. History is repeating itself in the coast district, and our production of Douglas fir will be definitely on the down grade in 15 years. Farther west is the Pacific Ocean. Canadians, in short, are nothing more than butchers—butchers of their natural resources."

Notes

Show-off children, according to an educator, just show up their parents.

Students at one college are to spend an entire day "doing as the Romans do." Nobody has yet volunteered to act as an Ethiopian.

An 83-year-old man who has been standing on his head every birthday decided not to do it this year. He found that these days the world looks the same right side up.

Germany is now making stockings out of old coffee grounds. That is nothing; we have drunk more than one cup of coffee that might have been made out of an old stocking.

SECTIONALISM ISSUE

From Toronto Saturday Night
When Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario presented his government's views to the Rowell Commission his utterances were not ranked as the major news of the day by most of the more important newspapers of his province. But outside of Ontario there is little doubt that the Queen's Park sittings of the Royal Commission are considered as the most important sessions to date.

Newspapers in western Canada particularly cleared their first ranking front page space for what Mr. Hepburn had to say about Ontario's uncompromising attitude toward the submissions the western provinces have already made to the commission and to his expressions of intense opposition to any strengthening of federal jurisdiction. Few residents of Ontario seemed to have realized that one of the main effects of the Ontario briefs has been to provide what may be the major issue of the next federal election; but it was reported from Ottawa by some of the most competent parliamentary observers that the Liberal caucus discussed Mr. Hepburn's attacks on federal authority in great detail and that Prime Minister Mackenzie King told his followers that the federal Liberal party is ready to go to the country immediately if necessary for the question of sectionalism.

MULTIPLICATION TABLE

I DO NOT ANNOUNCE it as news, because everyone must have foreseen it, but simply as a matter of record, that Sheila and Shirley, the bantam hens owned by the demons next door, have both turned out to be roosters. And to repair the threatened damage to posterity it has been necessary to acquire two more bantam chicks which are said to be female, but at present are too small for positive identification.

So the little boy from next door was telling me today that he and his sister are all set now for a gigantic commercial enterprise. He figures that each of the two hens will raise three chicks this year. Next year the six chicks will raise six chicks each, making a total population of 46, which will rise to 322 in 1940.

His arithmetic has already covered several pages in his scribbler, but he can't go beyond 1940, because he doesn't know anything above the six-times table. After that it is necessary to use calculus to find out what will happen by 1941, and he doesn't understand calculus yet. But by selling bantam chicks at 25 cents apiece he expects to be a millionaire by 1950. That is, if the earnings hang out that long. And they tell me next door they would prefer to have earwigs in the garden than to find bantams under the beds at night and a secret bantam stronghold in the clothes cupboard and the unmistakable trail of barritans across the living room.

PROVINCIALISM FOREVER

PREMIER CHAMBERLAIN, many of whose views are not popular in parts of this country, has lately said a very wise thing. He has said that all British premiers, except Roseberry came from the provinces, not from London, that the provinces supply the best genius of England and that provincialism should be maintained at all costs. Here is a curious streak of Liberalism from a great Tory, but then, party labels are so hopelessly mixed up now that no sensible man pays any attention to them.

Mr. Chamberlain is quite right. Provincialism is the salvation of the race and the downfall of every civilization can be traced to provincialism's decline. When a people starts to leave the provinces and move to the metropolis, decay begins immediately. This has happened from Babylon and Rome to New York. The strength of a race springs from the soil, as I am never tired of assuring Mr. Pudbury when he complains about his crops, or the price of loganberries. The genius of a race comes from the small places where men have time to think and are close to the earth that bores them. In Canada we have had great statesmen out of the sticks. What great statesman has come out of Montreal? Even in the tiny sphere of British Columbia we have had premiers from the farms, from the ranges, from the seashore, but no premiers of any consequence from Vancouver.

Yet provincialism is everywhere used as a term of contempt. It should be, of course, if it means the kind of provincialism that puts British Columbia, for example, ahead of Canada. But provincialism in the sense of strong local custom and competent local government is the only thing which ultimately will save democracy.

The other evening I was up to Duncan to attend a meeting of citizens interested in forestry and in game, and they argued in friendly fashion all night about forest and game policy, finally reaching an agreement on all essentials. This was provincialism at its best and democracy in its most efficient form.

In the Cowichan country they are the most provincial people in Canada. They maintain their local customs, their local clothes, and they are the better for it, and the happier for it also. They have developed one of the most pleasant civilizations in the world against the tide of uniformity and regimentation which now threatens the world.

LIFE OF A TOETOSSER

From Commentator Magazine

If you have a young daughter whom you suspect of secret longings to become a chorus girl, let her read this. Her average year's earnings will be $513.62, and she will be able to count on five years of working life before being told she is through. She will have to be very pretty and somewhere between 16 and 25 years of age, preferable between 18 and 21. It is unlikely that she will get a job in a musical show on Broadway because there are only about half a dozen a year nowadays, compared to the 50 or 60 a season the pre-depression days used to see. If she is very fortunate she will get into a first-class club where she will have to work only until 2 or 3 a.m. In such a club she might get $40 a week, but since the chances are 10 to 1 that she will land a job with a second or third-rate place her salary will be around $25, with the small clubs paying $15. And to get a job with any of the clubs she will have to be a first-class tap dancer and be able to learn long, hard, dance routines. She will have to sit at the tables with the bald-headed customers between floor shows, and if she gets home by 7 a.m. she can call it an easy night. The days of the chorus girl who merely paraded around in a minimum of clothes and a maximum of figure are pretty well over.

If the government really wishes to save the birds and other ground birds, let it offer a four-bits bounty for night-prowling cats.

Royal Society Unveils Some Unwritten Pages Of Canadian History

OTTAWA.

EVERY YEAR SINCE the Duke of Argyll, as Governor-General, founded the Royal Society of Canada in 1882, outstanding Canadians in the field of learning and research have gathered to report progress. The numbers have grown so that the society has been subdivided into five sections in order to cover the ground in the four days of the annual conference this year at Ottawa from May 24 to May 27 under the presidency of Professor A. G. Huntsman, the distinguished biologist of the University of Toronto.

So far as the general public is concerned, the section which is usually counted on to draw good attendances is section 2, covering literature, history, archaeology, sociology, political economy and allied subjects in English. Dr. W. Sherwood Fox, president of Western University, London, Ont., is president of this section this year and has chosen for the subject of his own address an examination of his own 300-year-old family tree, which has given him some surprising discoveries.

Dr. Fox's first Canadian ancestor, arrived from Brittany at Sorel as long ago as 1670, a certain Gilles Dufaux, whose grandson built the fur-trading fort round which eventually grew the present Toronto. His son became Vicar-General of Upper Canada. Along another branch of the tree appears Marie-Ange Ferquel, who married an Irishman and became one of the first settlers on the Ottawa River. That wedding apparently started an inter-racial habit, for their descendants are found marrying into English, Danish and Welsh families.

"An 18th Century Racketeer in Canada" is the subject of another address in section 2, presented by Professor H. M. Thomas of Western University. The racketeer in question was Intendant Bigot, who, according to Professor Thomas, was not more villainous but merely more effective in his villainy than his predecessors. Under his system there were separate lines of authority for ordering stores, for checking the issues and for paying for them, one line being military and the other civil. Bigot's plan was to have well-disposed men in the key positions, particularly on the military side, although his close relationships with business men, both in Canada and France, facilitated his method of short-circuiting of accounts.

There was a deluge of German "Kultur" in 18th century Canada, but not of the Hitler variety, according to J. Murray Gibson of Montreal, another of the speakers. Not many Canadians of today realize that 4,000 German soldiers were sent by George III to protect Quebec against the Americans in 1776. They were commanded by Baron Riedesel, whose name was found difficult to pronounce by the Cockney British soldiers already in the fortress, so he was nicknamed Red-Hazel. Fifteen years later a Hanoverian prince made his mark at Quebec in the person of Prince Edward Augustus, afterwards Duke of Kent and father of Queen Victoria. Prince Edward was a music lover and spent one-fifth of his private income on a military band which enlivened the Governor-General's court at Quebec. At that time morganatic marriages were recognized, and Madame de St. Laurent, who was, so to speak, the Mrs. Simpson of her day, cut quite a figure both at Quebec and later at Halifax. A large proportion of the settlement of British North America in this century was German, scattered in settlements from Nova Scotia to the Niagara Peninsula. These were the forerunners of the 400,000 Canadians of Germanic racial origin who were listed in the census of 1931.

I started reading around, and got taller I read books on the history of the word "dilemma." Editor: Price paid, describing her childhood education, in her father's library.

HUGE SASKATCHEWAN DEBT WIPED OUT

From Winnipeg Free Press

More than $111,000,000 of debt has been written off in Saskatchewan. It is a stupendous sum, and the like of such a cancellation in any province was previously unheard of in Canada. The huge amount of debt that has been forgotten will be further increased by the adjustment that will have to be made between Saskatchewan and the Dominion.

It is understandable in the face of the overwhelming economic adversity that has afflicted that province year after year. The figures show that it was mainly farm debt that was written off. This includes $20,000,000 through voluntary debt adjustment (provincial), and $7,000,000 more of such adjustment promised. Then there was $7,000,000 written off under the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, and $22,000,000 cancelled by private mortgages and companies which would be mostly farm debts.

Uncollectable taxes were forgiven by the municipalities to the large total of almost $20,000,000. And relief debts were written off to the tune of $31,000,000.

In the wiping out of this vast total of $111,768,000 of obligations there was, of course, a good deal less of magnanimity than of plain recognition of the inevitable—that the money was gone for sure and might as well be bade goodbye with as good a grace as possible.

Thousands Enjoy Events At Park

Brilliant Fireworks, Torch Parade, Band Concert, Sing End May 24 Festivities

Back to Beacon Hill thronged Victoria last night. Back the citizens went in thousands to the park where hundreds gathered for major celebrations during the gold rush days of the latter part of the last century. There, in spite of a fresh southwest wind, they enjoyed a splendid display of fireworks, a torchlight procession that made up in the calibre of its entries and in color what it lacked in numerical strength, a rousing band concert and a community sing.

The lower part of the park, facing on Horse Shoe Bay was a jammed mass of spectators, and automobiles reached far along the Dallas Road both east and west. On the route of the procession people were lined up three and four deep to cheer the spectacular parade as it followed link boys and an illuminated escort of the Victoria Motor Cycle Club.

Preceded by the motorbike corps, with wheels whirling in varied colors, the parade moved off from Beacon Hill School, with the Chief of Police in a flag-bedecked car in the lead.

Following him came the Highland-garbed 1st Battalion Canadian Scottish pipe-band. Groups of boys, bearing their flaming torches, Sea Cadets and school cadets lent a weird radiance to the spectacle and furnished illumination for the decorated bicycles, led by Chanticleer and his chicks, a Mexican gaucho, a youngster representing the spirit of the air and many other novel figures.

ATTRACTIVE FLOATS

The calico of Crescent Canadian Shows lent further carnival spirit to the procession, which included floats representing the Five Roses Flour Company, the Victoria Fire Brigade's Cyclopic Troubadours, a comic band in costume, children of all nations who followed Mrs. Josephine Cassidy, the only woman over 70 to march the full route.

Particularly attractive was the entry of the Misses Jean Sheppard and Helen Tulk, a car drawing a trailer in which were seated dainty little ladies in pastel-shaded dresses.

Stock model cars showed up in the brilliance of their new paint work, while the beautiful mauve and yellow floral coupe of Mrs. J. C. Newbury and the attractive swan-drawn white and gold coach of the Quarter Cab won unstinted applause. The city float, with its outline of small colored lights, showed brilliantly.

The Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, which took second prize in the Nanaimo parade, rushed its car, a sedan in white crepe paper surmounted by a canopy of similar color, to the city for the event.

Of chief attraction was the float of the Chinese Benevolent Association, an imaginative creation showing "The Goddess of the Moon" holding court. Chinese lanterns, beautiful Chinese ladies in costumes and decorations of Oriental splendor, made it the outstanding entry in the parade.

Drawing the procession to a conclusion was a truck bearing Taka, the Indian club swinger, who performed feats of strength before the judges.

PRIZEWINNERS

Colored flares lit the route and were used at the judging stand to assist adjudicators in selecting prize-winners as follows:

Decorated bicycles—1, Charles de Macado, "Chanticleer"; 2, Al Jordan, "May in Victoria"; 3, Charlie de Macado, "Chanticleer's Chick"; 4, Hudson Blak, "Airport for Victoria".

Ladies in costume—1, Phyllis Hudson, "V.O.N. Nurse"; 2, Iris Brooks, "Follow the Birds"; 3, Peggy Blake, "May West".

Women over 72—Mrs. Josephine Cassidy.

Any costume—1, Stan James, as "The Mounted Scot"; 2, Dorothy Wiles, "Lady of Chance"; 3, W. Cobble, "Mr. Bumble"; from Oliver Brown, "Hazel Houlahan, "Call for Philip Morris".

Decorated cars—1, Chinese Benevolent Association, "The Goddess of the Moon Holds Court"; 2, Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce; 3, Jean Sheppard and Helen Tulk, "Ladies of Art Craft"; 4, Mrs. J. C. Newbury, "Floral Coupe"; 5, Quarter Cab, "Swan-drawn sedan".

Special—Taka, Indian club swinger.

The strikingly illuminated car of Five Roses Flour was awarded a special prize.

SING BEFORE FIREWORKS

While the parade made its way from the north part of the park around the hill, hundreds joined in the community singing which followed the band concert by the Canadian Legion Band on the area above Horse Shoe Bay.

As the judging neared its close, gorgeous rockets and salvos roared into the air from the bay waterfront.

In addition to multicolored shells which burst in showers of gold, scarlet, green and white, whirling wheels of fire and the usual run of high-class fireworks, the display was enhanced by splendid set pieces, including one of Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. A series of aerial bombs and "Nagana Falls" drew the event to a close.

The events at the park reflected great credit on the celebration committee, headed by Alderman W. H. Davies.

CHANGE GOLF DATES

The first half of the Todd Cup competition at the Victoria Golf Club, 18 holes medal play on handicap, will be held on June 19 instead of June 5, as previously announced. The second half under the same conditions will be played on July 10 instead of June 19.

Expert on India To Lecture Here

Professor Ernest P. Horowitz, author, lecturer and educator, who will come to Victoria from India by way of New York and Seattle this week, will speak to the Rotary Club tomorrow and lecture in the Lower Lounge at the Empress Hotel on Friday evening at 8.

At the Rotary Club meeting he will speak on "Race Problems and International Education." On Friday evening he will speak on "India and Gandhi." The lecturer is conversant with every phase of Indian life. In 1927 and 1928 he toured the east from the Chinese to the Afghan borders, consolidating facts little known to others than experts on Oriental affairs. In 1928 he was appointed Government of Bombay Research Scholar on Indian Philology for the current year.

His views on Indian autonomy have the authenticity of independent research; those on Gandhi, of personal observation and knowledge.

Empire School To Start In England

F. A. Pauline Receives Information on July Gathering in Southampton

F. A. Pauline, honorary corresponding secretary for British Columbia of the Royal Empire Society, with headquarters in London, has received information that the Sixth Empire Summer School will be held this year from July 15 to 22 in Southampton, England. The school is open to all men and women in the British Empire who are interested.

Visits will be arranged to the various places of interest in Southampton and the neighborhood—the antiquities and the modern docks of Southampton; Winchester with its Cathedral and School; Salisbury and Stonehenge; the New Forest with the Abbeys of Romsey and Beaulieu and Christchurch Priory on its borders. There is also a frequent service of boats to the Isle of Wight which is only an hour's passage.

Prominent speakers from different parts of the Empire will address the classes.

The Empire Summer School has been eagerly attended by persons from all parts of the world in the past.

Popular Bishop Passes at Sea

Bishop Taylor Smith, who recently spoke at the Moody Centenary service before a congregation of mixed denominations of Victoria in the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, died on March 28 on board the liner S.S. Orion en route to his home in England.

Bishop Smith was born in Kendal, 1860. He was, at the time of his death, within a month of his seventy-eighth birthday.

He was consecrated as Bishop of Sierra Leone in the year 1897. It was in 1901 that the bishop was offered and accepted the position of chaplain-general to the forces, a post which he held until 1925. The bishop's retirement in 1925 set him free for service of an entirely different character and he became peripatetic evangelist. His journeys overseas took him to South America, Canada, United States, Australia, Africa, which he traversed from north to south.

Ambulance Awards

The following is a list of awards made by the St. John Ambulance Association, Victoria Centre, to the members of the ladies' first aid class, recently completed. Dr. C. Watson conducted this class, with the assistance of E. Harwood, practical instructor.

"There's lots of new-fangled doodads" says the grey-haired proprietor of Edwards' Emporium, "that aim to help a fellow keep his stock and count his cash and balance his books. For thirty years, from a two-by-four drygoods to a half-a-buck of store, I've been trying new gadgets and new systems to keep up with the times.

"Some of them are all right—if you don't go getting tangled up in machinery and forgetting about customers. I never saw a customer yet that wanted to come to my store because I had a new book-keeping system. I've got to keep telling them what I have to sell, with advertising.

"I've had fads in advertising, too. But one thing I've noticed—people were reading the newspaper thirty years ago and they're still reading it. It's good enough for them to read every day it's good enough for me to advertise in.

Mayfair Ball Is Colorful Event

Profusion of Flowers Features Beaux-Arts Event at Empress

Gay flowers, bright dresses and the latest in swing music marked the Mayfair Ball held in the crystal ballroom of the Empress Hotel on Monday night by the Beaux-Arts Society in celebration of Victoria Day.

For the members of the society the ball, which continued until 1, was an especially gala occasion because of the Beaux-Arts victory in the Dominion Drama Festival.

The predominating flower in the decorations was, approximately, red May. It was draped over the side of the ballroom and made a background for a mass of summer blooms arranged in garden border style, in front of the orchestra stage. Pastel shades of yellow, blue, pink and orchid predominated.

Spotlight dances, guitar solos, and impromptu songs by Mr. Waring Kennedy were features of the program.

Miss Doreen McGregor, the Beaux-Arts candidate in the Miss Victoria contest, was introduced to the dancers and received a great acclaim. Mr. Leslie Hardie, only member of the cast of Noel Coward's "Hands Across the Sea," with which the society won the Bessborough award in the Dominion Drama Festival at Winnipeg, to return to Victoria in time for the ball, was given an ovation.

Miss Marnie Wright, general convenor of the ball, and Mr. Brian Burdon-Murphy, president of the Beaux-Arts, received the specially invited guests. Other members of the committee organizing the event were: Mrs. A. Leslie Fox, Miss Dallas Homer-Dixon, Miss Ivy Brown and Miss Ruth Moore.

St. Ann's Pupils Receive Awards

Pupils of St. Ann's Academy who won marks in the musical festival received their respective trophies at a concert in the academy auditorium Tuesday night.

The Women's Canadian Club cup for highest marks in any class under 13 went to Keith Litter, the Hon. John Hart trophy for Irish folk song solo was won by Elaine Basanta. The Hollywood Club and Olive Campbell trophies for vocal solos under 16 was won by Loyola Edwards, Elaine Basanta and Mary Armitage. The Captain and Mrs. W. Ord cup for highest marks by boys under 13 was won by Keith Litter.

Others receiving awards were: Floretta Lazzarin, Florcas Muir, Elsie Hickey, Dorothy Anderson, Flavia Lazzarin, Jean Adams, Martina Boothie, Kathleen St. Martin, Joan Danes, Betty Hickey, Rita Fecteau, Bernice Chisholm, Shirley Olsen and Beverly Moore, Mary Armitage, Loyola Edwards, Winifred Gagnon, Helen McDonald, Rita Rooney, Mary Stewart, Betty Hickey and Rhoda Leeman.

Those contributing to the evening's programme were pupils of Grade VIII, D. and R. Fecteau; band selections by Grade II, Winnie Gagnon and Keith Litter, Bernice Chisholm, E. Beutelspacher, Joan Danes, Dorothy Anderson, Jane Holland and Thelma McCallum, pupils of Grades III, IV and VI; S. Olsen, B. Hickey, B. Moore, Floretta Lazzarin, Kathleen St. Martin, Martina Boothie, Dorothy Anderson, Dorcas Muir, Elsie Hickey, Jean Adams and Flavia Lazzarin.

ROYAL OAK

Mrs. T. L. Stevenson entertained at a birthday party at her home on the West Saanich Road in honor of her eldest son, Bill. A decorated birthday cake centered the refreshment table, which was prettily decorated with pink tulips and paper-white narcissi and lighted with tall green tapers in silver holders. Dancing and music were enjoyed. The invited guests were the Misses Audrey Hawthorne, Ida and Ruth Standfield, Nora Flitt and Messrs. Bill Stevenson, Edward McKinty, Tom Leason and Robert Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Padley, Dauphin, Manitoba, are visiting at "Greentrees," the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. F. Stoeck, Old West Road, en route to Chehalis, whence they will sail on a trip to England.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Black of San Mateo, California, accompanied by Mrs. Black, senior, who have been spending a few days in Victoria as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Watson, Newport Avenue, have left for their home in the south.

Dr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Kergin of Prince Rupert announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, to Dr. Ralph Edwards Outerbridge, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Outerbridge of Kobe, Japan. The wedding will take place on June 17 in First United Church, Prince Rupert.

On the occasion of his eighth birthday Master Maurice Pollard of 1333 Fort Street was honored with a party by his mother. Among the invited guests were Harold Kay, Peter Paterson, Bruce Allan, David and Arthur Whittingham, Harvey Beutelspacher, Paul Preston and Peter Powell. After a delightful tea game were enjoyed.

Delegates Are Welcomed In Victoria

Holiday Spent Here By 45 Members of National Council

Coming from every part of Canada, 45 of the delegates attending the 45th annual meeting of the National Council of Women in Vancouver came over to Victoria yesterday to spend the Empire Day holiday on lower Vancouver Island.

On their arrival they were taken on a motor trip to Butchart's Gardens, and later were entertained by Mrs. M. J. K. Snape and Dr. Olga Jardine at "Applearth," Mrs. Snape's Sidney home.

The annual meeting opened in Vancouver on Monday afternoon. In the evening the delegates were the guests of the British Columbia Government at a reception attended by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Eric W. Hamber, Hon. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, and Mrs. Weir; Hon. W. J. Asselstine, Minister of Mines; Mrs. George Spencer of Moncton, N.B., national president of the council, and Mrs. Thomas Brigham, president of the Vancouver council.

The feature of Monday's opening session was a broadcast from Gordon House, Aberdeen, Scotland, by the National Council's founder, Lady Aberdeen, widow of the former Governor-General of Canada, the Earl of Aberdeen. Business sessions were resumed today.

Weddings

WEBB-FONTANA

Agnes Theresa, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Fontana, Virden, Man., became the bride of Mr. Charles Webb, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Webb, Victoria, at a quiet ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral at 7 Monday morning. Rev. Father Geukers officiated.

The bride wore a gray tailored traveling suit with a turquoise blue blouse and hat and gray accessories. Her sister, Miss Jean Fontana, was maid of honor, wearing a black tulle with rust accessories. Both the bride and the maid of honor wore shoulder bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Webb was his brother's best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Balmoral Road, where the table was centered with a white bell and streamers between vases of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb left later for Port Angeles on the start of a motoring trip. On their return to Victoria they will make their home at 1225 Jubilee Avenue.

A surprise party was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. W. A. Turner of 1619 Pinewood Avenue in honor of Stuart Turner. The self-invited guests included the Misses Dorothy Turner, Marela Beach, Evelyn Day, Kay Sullivan, Nancy Kyle, Barbara Hutchins, Dorothy Robertson, Wavney-Bishop, Vivian Temple and Messrs. George Gilbert, George Bligh, Pete Walker, John Macpherson, Alec Merriam, Hugh Langton and David Shepherd. Miss Dorothy Turner was in charge of the coffee urn. A buffet supper was served.

Miss Ellis Waller, whose marriage to Mr. Harold England is to take place shortly, received many useful gifts at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her fiancée's mother, Mrs. D. H. England, 3140 Cook Street, on Friday. Mrs. England, Mrs. T. Aldrich and Miss Laverne Waller were joint hostesses. Pink and white flowers made up the decorations, and the gifts were presented in a colorful basket.

The invited guests were: Messdames L. McKay, R. Thompson, Geo. Malcolm, J. Yates, Lawler, W. June, A. Cheekley, A. Aldrich, Wm. Greer, J. Newall, P. June, A. Colman, J. Aldrich, S. Noel, L. Stewart, G. Leeming, B. Simpson and F. W. Waller and the Misses Sylvia Cheekley, Marjorie Cheekley, Mabel June, Inez June, Hazel McPhee, Beatrice Aldrich, Gladys Kitt, La Mae Waller and Mary Colman.

Members of the Sunday school teaching staff at First Baptist Church met on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Brown, Lansdowne Road, at a surprise party in honor of Miss Bessie Parker, a popular worker in the church who is to be married on Saturday. On behalf of the assembled guests, Miss Parker was presented with a silver flower basket suitably inscribed and filled with pink carnations. As a further surprise, about 30 members of the Tuckabatchee Club arrived later in the evening and presented Miss Parker with a china tea service. Rev. G. A. Reynolds, pastor of the church, addressed the assembled guests.

In appreciation of her kindness in loaning her home for the occasion, Mrs. Brown was presented with a bouquet of mauve and yellow lilies. The guests included Rev. G. A. Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds, Mr. O. M. Brown, Miss Nora Gibson, Miss Marjorie Mathews, Miss Marjorie Freeman, Mr. Grant Johnston, Mr. Percy Dalin, Miss Doreen Waller and Miss Betty Gale, officers and staff of the Sunday school and the following members of the Tuckabatchee Club: the Misses May Ayres, Jean Atchison, Florence Atchison, Doris Bennet, Mary Block, Vivian Busby, Gertrude Davies, Flora Donnelly, Vera Freeman, Margaret Freeman, Betty Gale, Nora Gibson, Jane Hall, Audrey Hamilton, Evelyn Ledson, Florence Leslie, Margaret Matthews, Edna Middleton, Ruth McIntosh, Dolma McKinnon, Florence Phillimore, Jessie Reynolds, Marjorie Siddall, Sylvia Smith, Muriel Sprinkling, Marion Stevenson, Veronica Stevenson, Queenie Tabor, Doreen Waller and Vera Waller.

Chronic Fatigue Tells of exhausted Nerves

In health, rest soon overcomes fatigue. When you become chronically tired there is an underlying cause. Perhaps you cannot rest or sleep because of the irritability of the nerves. Memory and power of attention soon weaken when the nervous system is exhausted. It is difficult to concentrate the mind and the daily task becomes a worry and a burden. Indigestion and sleeplessness ruin your temper, and you become depressed and discouraged.

Whatever may have been the cause there is a way in which to regain health and that is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Nerve Food is created to restore the functions of the bodily machinery and ensure the beautiful working of the mental and physical organs.

School Pageant Was Colorful Spectacle

Contribution of Children Was Major Event of Empire Day Celebrations

Yesterday morning's delightful weather was a perfect background for the major contribution of Victoria's school children to the Empire Day celebrations which took the form of a grand pageant at the Royal Athletic Park with more than 400 children participating.

Before an audience of well over 4,500 parents and friends the pupils staged a variety of events that brought continuous applause from the large crowd and merited praise to school officials who were in charge of the pageant.

From the opening parade to the final assembly when the children sang "O Canada" and the national anthem, the events were run off with clocklike precision and the entire presentation indicated hours of careful instruction and timing on the part of those in charge.

The pageant was attended by Mayor Andrew McGavin, with aldermen and city school trustees, the latter being headed by Trustee Percy E. George, chairman of the board.

General supervision of the entertainment was in the hands of George H. Deane, municipal inspector; J. S. Adam, J. Bruce, Major A. C. Hinton, J. MacKenzie and W. H. Muncey.

The grand parade, which opened the pageant and the "Dance of Joy," staged by the high and junior high school pupils, were the two outstanding numbers of the program from the point of view of color and beauty.

COLORFUL PROCESSION

In the former the whole assembly took part and passed in review before the grand stand, headed by the entourage of Queen of the May Catherine Goodenough, H. S. Hurn, in charge of the loudspeaker system, acted as commentator and described to the audience the periods represented by the various groups.

These included the people in King John I. Robb and his merry men, the Roundheads of the Cromwell period, the early French settlers of Canada, the lords of the Elizabethan period, including Lords Bureleigh, Essex and Walsingham, and Sir Walter Raleigh, Sir Francis Hawkins, Mary of Scotland, Philip of Spain, Henry of France and William Shakespeare and the famous Beefeaters.

After Queen Catherine and her retinue had assumed their places on a large dais at midfield the program got under way.

Children of George Jay, Quadra and Sir James Douglas Schools took part in the Maypole dances which formed a delightful colorful event.

FIGURE MARCHING

Boys of the Central Junior High, under the direction of Major A. C. Hinton, took part in figure marching and were followed by an eightsome reel by the pupils of Central, Burnside, North Ward, Sir James Douglas, South Park and Victoria West.

Next was the athletic and club swinging act by boys and girls of the High School under the direction of W. A. Roper. With boys and girls of the High School under the direction of W. A. Roper. With boys and girls swinging clubs to music in the

BABY CONSTIPATED?

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. A. Reil of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven, can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children—safe and effective for the infant. I give them up to 10 years of age. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."

Equally effective for simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, cold, simple cough and other minor ailments of babyhood.

Quick and sure in their action. Easy to take. Harmless and safe for the most delicate child. Do not contain opiates or stupefying drugs. Each package contains analyst's certificate. Get a box today. Sickless so often strikes in the night. Your money back if not satisfied. 25 cents.

The simple, unaffected ways that have endeared the British Royal Family to their subjects are well illustrated in this picture of King George kissing his mother, Queen Mary, as she arrived at the Royal Military Chapel centenary commemoration in London. With the King and Queen Elizabeth, shown at right, she attended the exercises, where each of the royal trio presented gifts.

Tugboat Annie to Meet Mr. Gallup, Says Raine

Noted Saturday Post Author and Screen Writer Discusses Plans Here

Tugboat Annie is going to meet Mr. Gallup.

Out of this meeting there should come a treat for short story readers who used to meet this pair stomping across the pages of the Saturday Evening Post.

Norman Raine is arranging the meeting of the two lovable sea-going characters in a series of three new Tugboat Annie stories he will write for the Post.

Both of them are quite familiar with Victoria. Annie's home is aboard her tug on the waters of Puget Sound and the Straits of Juan de Fuca. Mr. Gallup used to ship out of Victoria and Vancouver as third mate aboard the Canadian Pioneer of the old Canadian Government Merchant Marine.

Mr. Raine discussed plans for their meeting as he chatted with a Times interviewer on the veranda of the Empress Hotel this morning. He is holidaying in the city with Mrs. Raine. Today they are trying their luck at Brentwood under the guidance of George I. Warren, Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau commissioner.

UNDER PICTURE CONTRACT

Tied up with motion pictures under contract with Warner Brothers, Mr. Raine has not had much time for fiction in the last few years. But he has promised the new Tugboat Annie series and relishes the task.

"I really love the old girl," he said. "They used to tell me I should be ashamed to let an old woman keep me, but that's actually what she did for three years."

Tugboat Annie originally came from Providence, Rhode Island, at the suggestion of one of Mr. Raine's friends, but she was remodeled to suit the type of the late Marie Dressler, who eventually played the part in pictures.

Mr. Raine shipped for two voyages with Mr. Gallup, the legal-minded third mate, who in real life once told his captain there was nothing in the rule book to make him discard the hard hat he always wore.

"The two of them should have a lot of fun chatting over old times across the mess table," Mr. Raine said.

Mr. Raine motored up from California, arriving here Monday. He has just finished the scrip for "Men Are Such Pools," which will be released soon with Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane in the title roles.

TO FLY TO HOLLYWOOD

The noted author, will leave Victoria this afternoon, spend a couple of days in Seattle and expects to fly back to Hollywood to attend a story conference Monday morning on the adaptation with just an occasional old word as flavor. And, of course, we had an absolute ban on slang. Just one slang word would spoil it."

Royal Salute

Mr. Raine said in creating the new Robin Hood he had tried to bring out what people remembered from their storybooks of childhood days.

"We went very carefully over the picture made by Douglas Fairbanks back in the early twenties," he said. "It was about nine-tenths crusades and the rest Robin Hood. Will Scarlet, Little John, Friar Tuck and those characters just popped up from nowhere without reason. Strangely enough, few people could tell you the story of the Fairbanks film. So we tried to make the character real, as people remember them from the legend."

Robin Hood was filmed on a park deeded by Gen. Bidwell to the town of Chica, California. It is nine miles long by three miles wide, with a stream through the centre. Planted in oaks, it is "very much like what Sherwood Forest must have been in the 12th century," according to Mr. Raine. It was ideal for the picture, and, strangely, had never been filmed before.

Mr. Raine predicted that within three years nothing but color pictures will be made. Technicians are steadily pulling down the cost of making them and improving the color. It takes one-third again as long to make a color film, and this is also being reduced.

Mr. Raine said he has thoroughly enjoyed his two-day holiday here. Monday night he and Mrs. Raine attended the Beau-Art Mayfair ball at the Empress. Yesterday they went on a sightseeing trip, piloted by Mr. Warren. This morning Mrs. Raine was very anxious to catch a fish, even if it was only a minnow, because she has never caught one before.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. If one is having a large church wedding, is it permissible to ask friends to the church and the house afterward — and ask acquaintances only to the church?
 2. If a marriage is performed by a magistrate, is it proper for the bride to wear a white wedding dress and veil?
 3. Is it correct for the groom's family to give the wedding reception?
 4. Is it all right to show wedding gifts at the reception?
 5. Should one write a note explaining why a wedding gift is late, if it is not sent until after the ceremony?
- What would you do if—
You are a married woman and are sending a gift to a bride—
(a) Enclose a card engraved with both names—"Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Brown"?
(b) Write "Mr. and" in front of your own card, which is engraved "Mrs. John Henry Brown"?
(c) Write "The Browns" on a plain card?

ANSWERS

1. Yes. This is the customary procedure.
 2. No.
 3. No. The bride's family gives the reception.
 4. Yes.
 5. It is courteous.
- Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a) If you have that type of card. Otherwise (b).

B.C. Minister Honored As Indians Celebrate at Harrison Hot Springs

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C. (CP)—The white man sat back and watched yesterday as Indians of the Pacific Northwest came back into their own with primitive ceremonies and folk lore of the legendary Sasquatches, hairy giants said to roam the high hills of the Harrison district.

The scene was the Indians' festival, Sasquatch Days, in this virgin country 80 miles east of Vancouver. Hundreds of Indians from British Columbia and the States of Washington were camped on the Harrison reserve for the celebration.

A colorful parade of 500 Indians in full ceremonial dress was given a modernistic touch by an Indians Boys' Band from Mission and a band of Nootka Indians from the Nootka Indians' crew was second.

CHIEF INITIATION

The parade wound to the waters of the Harrison River, where Hon. A. Wells Gray, British Columbia Minister of Lands, was initiated into the Chehalis tribe as a chieftain. He was given the name of "Chief of the Big Timbers."

Skadgitt, Washington, Indians won the 11-paddle war canoe race for the Golden Jubilee Trophy donated by the Dominion Department of Indian Affairs. The Nootka Indians' crew was second.

Can't make Headway WITHOUT MINERALS

CHILDREN who are "shooting up" remind us of skyscrapers. These tall structures require many different building materials to complete them. So do our children. And these different body-building materials for children should be found in their food. But many modern foods—while they appear appetizing from the outside—do not always contain sufficient of those very important body-building materials known as food minerals—Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus and so on. Milk, for instance, contains only a trace of Iron, while white bread and white flour are definitely low in Calcium and Phosphorus.

You can't expect children to make headway without minerals any more than you can expect skyscrapers to go up without bricks. Give a growing child enough minerals and vitamins—they promote health, strength and growth.

UNDER-FED BLOOD
PREVENTS MANY CHILDREN FROM FILLING OUT

But they gain in pep, energy and endurance when they drink Cocomalt

Cocomalt contains the precious "growing minerals": Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus. Also the Sunshine Vitamin "D" to help in proper formation of bones and teeth. Then Cocomalt has lots of energy-making Carbohydrates and muscle-building Proteins. In simple words, Cocomalt is the scientific food tonic which supplies the vital food essentials growing children require, that helps them develop and keep their health, strength and proper weight.

Due to its delicious flavor, children of all ages—and grown-ups, too—are eager to drink Cocomalt. It is quickly and easily prepared by mixing with hot or cold milk. You buy Cocomalt at drug and grocery stores in purity-sealed, 1/4-lb., 1-lb. and the economical 5-lb. cans.

Do not confuse Cocomalt with malted milk or ordinary, chocolate-flavored drinks. Cocomalt is a scientific food tonic, rich in minerals and other vital food essentials for health, energy and growth. HERE IT IS THE 25TH OF MAY! HAVE YOU SAVED ANY MONEY THIS MONTH?

Some time ago you made a resolution to save a certain sum each month. But did you keep your resolution?

If you did, congratulations! But if you did not, you have only demonstrated a natural human characteristic. There are hundreds of forces influencing you to spend, but only yourself urging you to save. And one day of spending, one single big purchase, may nullify months or years of careful saving.

One great advantage of the Imperial Life way of saving is that it actually does work. In the vast majority of cases

Imperial policyholders do just what they resolved to do. They deposit the stipulated amounts and then they, or their dependents, receive all savings plus interest at the time they need it most.

Besides, this method protects your loved ones right from the first deposit for the full amount you plan to save.

"FINANCIAL SECURITY THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE", by Paul Speicher, an international authority, is an interesting book which should be read by everyone who plans to provide financial security for himself and family. Your local Imperial Life representative will make a copy available to you without cost.

Excursion Steamers Brought Thousands

Over 2,000 Holidaymakers Came Here For May 24 and 3,000 Visited Nanaimo

Crowded steamers contributed to the success of the Empire Day holiday, bringing thousands to participate in the celebrations here.

Seventeen hundred people came from Vancouver on Ss. Princess Marguerite, which was operated as a special excursion steamer, and other hundreds were brought in by Ss. Princess Adelaide, taking the regular run from the mainland city.

Holiday-makers from Seattle and other United States cities were transported across the straits by Ss. Iroquois.

Operated as an excursion steamer between Victoria and Seattle, Ss. Princess Joan carried 880 people.

Nanaimo also attracted its quota of excursionists yesterday when a total of 3,100 visited the Newcastle Island resort from Vancouver.

Ss. Princess Louise and Ss. Princess Victoria carried 1,000 each, Ss. Princess Elizabeth 700 and Ss. Princess Elaine 400.

Transportation officials stated it was one of the most successful excursion days in recent years. It was ideal outing weather.

The Vancouver excursionists helped to fill the main business, thoroughfares here following the arrival of the Marguerite at 12.45. The excursionists boarded the Marguerite at 6 for the return trip to Vancouver.

Returning from Seattle at 9.30 the Princess Joan steamed close in and the Victoria excursionists aboard had a splendid view of the fireworks display in Beacon Hill Park.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two quarts of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Headaches go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks ugly.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two quarts of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Mermentol and mentol, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of nature but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Italian Navy's War Dogs Bark for Hitler

CARS HERALD TOURIST YEAR

Increasing Number of Motorists Arriving From United States

Cars carrying United States number plates are daily filling the parking court at the Empress Hotel, indicating the early opening of the 1938 tourist season. The majority of the touring motorists are from California, Oregon and Washington with eastern states occasionally represented.

The Iroquois brought in a number of automobiles from Seattle on the holiday.

California guests registered at the Empress today include E. L. Barry, Mrs. G. Friedman and Mrs. Frances McKibben, San Francisco; Miss Josephine Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Price, Los Angeles; Miss Alice Brady, Sacramento, and Mrs. W. Emerson Read, Redwood City, and Miss S. D. E. Donahue, Salinas.

From Boston, Mass., comes Mr. and Mrs. R. Merrill and their daughter Marguerite. Mr. Merrill is "trust officer for the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company. He is taking his family on a Canadian tour, which will include Lake Louise and Banff.

R. A. Purdy, of the Alberta Wheat Pool, Calgary, with John Bennett, superintendent of the Vancouver elevators, was in town over the holiday.

The accommodation of the Empress was well filled for the Empire Day celebrations, it was indicated in a check-up of the hotel's guest list.

Distant visitors included Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Booth, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Miss R. J. Rynders and Miss H. J. Hall, of Flushing, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dunn, Colorado Springs; and Mrs. G. F. Alderdice, of Youngtown, Pa.

Ship Contracts Total $76,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials, observing Maritime Day, reported contracts for 25 merchant vessels to cost $76,000,000 had started long-needed replacements in the merchant marine.

On the 119th anniversary of the steamship Savannah's start on the first steam-powered crossing of the Atlantic, the Maritime Commission said 500 ships costing $125,000,000 were the minimum requirements for the next 10 years.

Contracts for 12 more vessels now are being considered, and Chairman Emory S. Land predicted 20 or 30 more ships would be contracted for by the end of the year.

Rehabilitation of Pacific Coast shipping, involving the building of 24 vessels worth about $100,000,000, is a primary part of the commission's program.

Largest ship under construction is a model liner to replace the Leviathan in the North Atlantic service. This vessel is being built by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company at a cost of $15,750,000, and will be ready for service early in 1940.

Four Rescued By Lifeguard

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four Vancouver youths were safe at home today thanks to youthful lifeguard Oscar Orr. Orr rescued them from drowning when a small rowboat capsized off Jericho Beach Monday.

The four, Bill Hill, Don Kinnon, Don Baker and Jim Roberts, clung to their overturned craft until Orr arrived after hearing their cries.

Two could not swim. The lifeguard hauled them into his own boat.

Air Excursions By Clipper Ship

Pan American Airways Developing Midway and Wake As Tourist Resorts

Summer excursion rates by clipper to the mid-Pacific islands of Midway and Wake, to go into effect on June 1, are announced by Pan-American Airways.

First summer excursion rates ever offered for transoceanic air travel, the reductions announced are a step in a program to popularize summer travel to mid-Pacific islands, unknown on vacationists' itineraries until the conquest of the Pacific by air, but each island since equipped with a modern airway inn and developed as a new kind of vacation place.

Trans-Pacific air passenger service, in which more than 10,000,000 passenger miles have been flown by the clippers since its inauguration more than two years ago, places Midway but a short day's flight from Honolulu, and Wake, 1,000 miles further out in the Pacific, but another day's journey through the air.

Princess Marguerite, which brought 1,700 excursionists to Victoria yesterday, resumed her regular schedule this morning, sailing from Vancouver at 10.30 in the triangle service. She will leave here at 4.30 this afternoon for Seattle.

Between 80 and 100 members and friends made the picnic cruise and on returning declared it to have been one of the most enjoyable outings sponsored by the club. The fleet was back in Cadboro Bay by 7 in the evening.

THREE SHIPS HERE

Three ships are at the Canadian National docks today, loading lumber for offshore delivery.

They are the Hadleigh, Cromarty and Celtic Monarch, the first two arriving over the holiday and the latter today.

Docking at 7.30 this morning from Vancouver, Celtic Monarch, operating in the St. Lawrence trade via Panama, is taking 500,000 feet here.

Hadleigh is expected to get away this evening for Port Alberni and Cromarty should finish by Friday. Lowther Castle, which is scheduled to return here to load lumber, passed in from sea at 9 last night and proceeded to Union Bay.

DUE FOR BUNKERS

Greek freighter Rokos Vergotis, inbound from Norfolk, Va., is expected to arrive here tomorrow from Conjax to load bunkers.

She is owned by the Gerassimos Vergotis and Sons Steamship Company Ltd., of Argostoli, Greece. Her net tonnage is 3,166.

BACK ON SCHEDULE

C.P.R. steamer Princess Adelaide, after taking the regular sailing here from Vancouver on the holiday in place of the Princess Marguerite, will sail from Vancouver at 11 tonight on schedule to Prince Rupert and way ports, it was announced at the B.C. Coast offices this morning.

Princess Marguerite, which brought 1,700 excursionists to Victoria yesterday, resumed her regular schedule this morning, sailing from Vancouver at 10.30 in the triangle service. She will leave here at 4.30 this afternoon for Seattle.

Whales Butter Britain's Bread

Antarctic Products Being Stored in England in Case of War

By GUY E. RHOADES

LONDON (CP)—The world's biggest animals are providing the United Kingdom with part of the food reserves the government is storing as a defence against possible war-induced hunger.

Sir John Simon's budget speech disclosed the administration, seeking to buttress the country against any emergency war might bring, already has started buying and storing supplies of wheat to make the nation's bread and whale oil to make oleomargarine to spread on the bread.

Margarine, a butter substitute sold widely in this country, but barred in Canada since the Great War as a handicap to the dairy industry, is one of the chief products of the whaling industry. The other is soap.

All the way from Antarctica, near the bottom of the world, ships come to Britain carrying hundreds of tons of oil pressed and boiled from the blubber that hardy men strip from the carcasses of whales caught and killed by their harder companions.

The United Kingdom ordinarily imports about 900,000 barrels, 150,000 tons, of whale oil annually. How much the imports will be increased by the government's purchase cannot be estimated because the amount of the purchase was kept secret.

HEAVY CONSUMPTION

Britain's margarine and soap industries last year took almost one-third of the 2,658,108 barrels of whale oil produced by the Antarctic and chief whaling industry. The margarine industry took nine-tenths of the British imports.

Last year's Antarctic fleet of 30 factory ships and 196 "catchers" killed 34,579 whales in a season lasting from September until May. It presented a far different picture from the whaling industry of a half century ago.

Instead of auxiliary sailing vessels of 300 to 400 tons with out-propelled catches, the fleet was composed of steam or motor-driven factory ships of around 10,000 tons, capable of flensing (stripping) several hundred whales each and rendering and storing the oil from the blubber.

The season just ending saw an increase of about 250 in the number of catcher vessels while crews numbered about 10,000 men.

An international agreement, operative for a number of years, dictated that no blue whales of less than 70 feet must be taken. Formerly hunters were permitted to kill blues of 65 feet, but recent declines in the catch of the animals, the most valuable whales because they give most oil per carcass, made authorities fear the species was being depleted too rapidly.

Armed Fish Boats Are Unnecessary

Alaska Patrol Equipped to Protect U.S. Rights, Says Coastguard Head

SEATTLE (AP)—Capt. R. W. Dempwolf, commander of the Seattle division of the coastguard, declared today there is no necessity for Alaska fishermen to arm themselves with rifles to combat a reported Japanese invasion of Bering Sea fishing grounds.

The Alaska patrol, Capt. Dempwolf said, is fully equipped and of sufficient size to protect United States fishing rights. He referred to Capt. John E. Shields, master of the Bering Sea cod fishing schooner Sophie Christensen, as a "headline hunter."

Capt. Shields started fishing circles here yesterday with a message to his Pacific Coast Codfish Company, headquarters, asking a supply of rifles and ammunition and saying part of the Bering Sea was "covered by Japanese boats and nets."

George W. Shields, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast Codfish Company, said today he was preparing to dispatch two dozen high powered rifles and ammunition requested by his brother, Capt. John E. Shields, to combat a reported invasion of Bering Sea codfish banks by Japanese fishermen.

He said Capt. Shields, master of the Sophie Christensen, Seattle codfishing schooner now on the far northern banks, had wireless asking that a dozen rifles be sent him and a dozen to the company's schooner Charles R. Wilson, also in Bering Sea.

Shields declined to reveal how the munitions would be sent north. He said he feared they might be seized.

Capt. Shields' message stated: "Bering Sea covered with Japanese fishing boats and nets north of Black Hills. No cutters around. We have God-given instinct to shoot straight. Please ship dozen high powered rifles, plenty of ammunition. Duplicate for Wilson."

Gymkhana Is Great Success

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALT AWAY

FOR THOSE PEOPLE who like to satisfy their craving for thrills in the white of high-speed motors, breath-taking stunts and roaring speed on the straight-aways, the automobile racing meets at the Langford Speedway are providing them with action. These lads of the screaming tires, particularly those who come here from Seattle and other Pacific Northwest point, certainly know their business. Although they take chances galore, risking life and limb, they are happy-go-lucky lot and are determined to give the customers in the stands a show.

That chap Swede Linskov, who drove on the local track for the first time Saturday night, was a typical speed devil who thinks nothing of getting behind the wheel of a gas-car and winding her up to the limit. Just a freckle-faced youngster, he packs a mass of experience and racing knowledge. Linskov was picked a member of the U.S. racing team to tour New Zealand during the winter months on the strength of his sensational driving in the Northwest last summer.

Those chaps think nothing of one crack-up more or less. As a matter of fact they laugh and joke about it. Saturday night a bunch of the boys were talking about smash-ups and Linskov gave out the following advice: "If you are going to hit another fellow, smash him right in the middle and then the only damage will be a lot of twisted steel." We might say that the cars travel at a speed ranging from 45 to 75 miles an hour. Racing cars is the business of these boys, but they take it all with a sense of humor.

Although one of the drivers, Buddy Green, Victoria, was seriously injured on the third lap of the main event Saturday night, it failed to cut down the speed or enthusiasm of the remainder of the boys. They were forced, to pull into the pit until the injured pilot and his wrecked car had been removed, but were anxious to get the race started again. They continued to take as many chances skidding the corners just as tough and gunning their motors on the stretches. An accident is nothing in their lives. In the words of Glen Shaw, president of the Washington State Racing Association: "These boys are plenty tough and mighty hard to hurt."

In view of the accident Saturday night, it would be a good plan for those in charge of the Langford races to have an ambulance or properly equipped crash car available at the track. In the case of a bad crack-up it is only fair to the drivers that they be removed to a hospital in the fastest time possible.

It would be a good idea for the technical and inspection committee of the Victoria Automotive Sports Association to tighten up the regulations regarding the local cars allowed to race on the track. We realize the keenness of the Victoria boys to get out there and race, but there is just a chance their enthusiasm blazes their better judgment. No car should be allowed on the track that is not in first-class condition and capable of standing up under the necessary strain. Crack-ups cannot be helped if the human element fails, but everything possible should be done to prevent them from mechanical weaknesses.

Wins Grueling Checker Struggle

Moving his men cleverly over the boards in a gruelling seven-hour tournament, L. Bazanta defeated J. Wetherhill in the final to win the Empire Day open checker championship at Beacon Hill Park yesterday.

A large crowd watched the tournament, in which, after nearly 30 entries, in the B class, A. B. Birkett defeated Joe Smith in a hotly-contested match.

Horse Races and Motorcycle Events Highlight Fine Program at Willows

Topped off with a thrilling steeplechase, a monster gymkhana program which included horse racing, daredevil riding and stunts by motorcycleists, tug-of-war duels, track sprints, bike races and even a housewives' rolling-pin hurling contest, provided more than four hours of entertainment for a crowd of about 2,500 at the Willows race track yesterday afternoon.

This variety sports program and race meet was staged in conjunction with the Victoria Day celebrations and the proceeds will go to aid hospitals and the S.O.I.A.

The customers thrilled to the thunder of hoofs as the horses rounded the final turn, and charged down the home stretch in compact groups to provide close finishes in the majority of the races. They thoroughly enjoyed the stunting men on the iron steeds and were treated to lots of thrills and excitement when these speed demons vied for honors in the seven-lap competition over a miniature T.T. course. The afternoon had its humorous features also.

R. G. (Bob) Shanks astride Kitz Miller, headed a field of five other amateur riders over the finish line to carry off the $35 purse and the John Fry Cup in the Victoria Day Steeplechase, which wound up the afternoon's attractive show. This event was held inside the oval and the distance was one and a half miles over eight jumps. H. Hitchings on Sir Wilfred placed second to receive a $20 purse and G. Aitken on Silver was third.

STEVEDORES WIN

One of the highlights of the day was the tug-of-war final between the Victoria Longshoremen and the Victoria Police. The big-muscled men from the docks had too much power for the strong arms of the law and pulled them straight to capture the city championship. The police men defeated the P.P.C.L.I. in the preliminary. Members of the winning V.L.A. team follow: Andy Smith, anchor; Robert Brotherton, Henry Schacht, Hugo Tewes, Len Polon, Adam Baer, Joe Efta, Howard Winter and Coach Jim Mackie.

There were an abundance of thrills for the spectators during the T.T. race in which six members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club competed and which was eventually won by Vic Stevens riding a Harley 74. Jimmy Worswick on his powerful Ariel single roared over the line for second place and he was followed by Reg Shanks. There were lots of spills as the riders attempted to take the hairpin curves too sharply and Shanks had the lead a number of times only to lose it again with a series of spills.

Riders also took part in a motorcycle polo game, which the Harleys won 2 to 1, and a new game called cave-man "soccer," which was won by Corky Thomas and Bill McNeil. The idea in this game was to break a balloon tied to the neck of the second riders on each machine. This event provided plenty of laughs. An exhibition of difficult solo stunts was given by Reg Shanks and Vic Stevens.

HORSE RACES

The Queen Victoria race over a half mile course for women riders was won by Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, who was riding Danny Boy, while Mrs. D. Carley on Omar was second, and Mrs. H. Hartley on Talisman was third. Mrs. Mitchell was presented with Sam Bell Cup by Mayor Andrew McGavin. The half-mile Two Jacks handicap for Canadian bred horses was won by W. Billings on Terry Tet, while Joe Obee on Bonilla and Geo. Finnington on Edison were second and third, respectively. First prize was a $25 purse.

Mrs. H. Harley on Sweet Pekoe breezed over the finish two lengths ahead of Mahukova, ridden by W. Billings, to take the half-mile open Lieutenant Governor's handicap for thoroughbreds. Duke Pohl carrying Geo. Finnington was third. Forty dollars was the first prize. J. Aitken on Silver captured the Dineen McTavish handicap, with G. Edgewood on Hurrah and E. F. (Ted) Fox on Prince John, second and third. The relay race was won by Jack Rawnsley on Mickey, Ron Morley on Tony, Grimmond on Mouse and Milton on Midge.

OTHER EVENTS

The first bike race for boys under 18 saw E. Perkins first, G. Bell second and C. Miller third, while Eric Whitehead came in away ahead of the pack in the open cycle event. E. Perkins was second and G. Bell third. In the boys' running races L. McCorkill was the winner in the younger class, with E. McCoy second and J. Williams third, while R. Dodwell placed first in man Gadsden panted in third.

Schools Hold Annual Sports

City and District Students Compete in Annual Meets; Oaklands City Champs

City and district school track and field champions were crowned Monday afternoon as the various sports were held at parks throughout the district. All meets attracted hundreds of enthusiastic children, their parents and friends. With ideal weather, the events were run off in quick order and those in charge are to be congratulated for the fine manner in which the various competitions were conducted.

Bob McInnes's Oaklands School athletes established themselves city champions amid the cheers of hundreds of youngsters at the city school sports at the Willows track. The winners rang up 40 points in junior and senior events and came out top in the senior tug-of-war against Sir James Douglas.

The latter school placed second in the meet, with Central Junior High School third. The Parent-Teacher Cup, Hudson's Bay Cup and the Mitchell and Challenor Cup all went to Oaklands and the junior trophy, donated by Peden Bros., was shared by Burnside, Sir James Douglas and Oaklands, each school scoring 10 points. The trophies were presented by School Trustee P. E. George.

The 100 yards boys' open saw Arnold Masters, Central, hit the tape in front of William Knowles, Oaklands, while Reta Hume, Central, captured the girls' 100 yards open. Central Junior High won the 440 yards girls' open relay and South Park finished first in the 880 yards boys' open relay. Central Junior High was second.

OAK BAY

Jack Grogan and Miss Lorraine Carruthers were named senior track champions of the Oak Bay High School by scoring highest points in their sections at the school meet held Monday afternoon at the Cranmore Road grounds.

Herb Fulkerson led as junior champion and Miss Phyllis Mill was named junior leader in the girls' section.

Grogan led the field of senior boys with a total point lead of 11 over 9 points made by B. Dodwell. He won the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash and finished third in the 440 yard run.

Five points were awarded for first place, three points for second and one point for third.

Miss Carruthers won the 100 yard hurdles, high jump, 100 yard dash and the broad jump. Her runner-up was Miss Eileen Boate with 9 points.

H. Fulkerson took first place in the 100 yard hurdles, 100 yard dash and the 440 yard run. He was second in the broad jump. Jim Squire was second with 13 points. Miss Mill gained 12 points by winning the 100 yard hurdles, by coming second in the high jump and 100 yard dash, and by taking third place in the window jump. Miss Margaret Junget was the runner-up in this section with a total of 9 points.

The trophies were awarded the champions at the close of the meet by Mrs. R. W. Murdoch.

ESQUIMALT

With a large entry and keen competition in all events, the annual sports of the Esquimalt schools held Monday afternoon at Bullen Park were an outstanding success.

In the senior events, Bill McColl and Phyllis Buxton were outstanding. The former carried off the 100 yard dash, 100 yard hurdles, half-mile open, and a broad jump. Phyllis Buxton was the winner of the 100 yard dash, ping-pong race, and was a member of the winning team in the 440 yard relay.

A feature of the sports was the display of physical exercises by a class under the leadership of J. Smith.

At the conclusion of the events the prizes were presented by School Trustee Mrs. S. King. During the afternoon the Salvation Army Band rendered selections.

The older boys' race, followed by Neil Gray and G. Baxter. E. Fisher was the winner in the younger girls' race and H. Ellis was second and L. Cox third, while Barbara McKay, Victoria Lyle and Hazel Ellis were first, second and third, respectively, in the other girls' race.

Mrs. W. H. Davies threw the rolling-pin a good 30 yards to win that contest. The Victoria Longshoremen defeated Emaco 6 to 4 in the softball game that ushered in the program, while Alderman Billy Davies won the civic employees' sack race. Frank Hunter, city clerk, was second and Alder while R. Dodwell placed first in man Gadsden panted in third.

Senior Track Champions

In the annual sports of the city schools held at the Willows on Monday afternoon the two youngsters seen above carried off the senior championships. The boy is Arnold Masters and the girl, Reta Hume, and both were carrying the colors of the Central Junior High School. Masters and Miss Hume raced to convincing triumphs in the 100-yard sprints.

Local Ball Team Splits Twin Bill

Defeats Vancouver Lowneys 7 to 4 in Afternoon; Drops Night Game 13 to 4

Victoria's ball team made its season debut yesterday at the Athletic Park by splitting a holiday double-header with Vancouver Lowneys. The locals "copped" the afternoon fixture 7 to 4 but dropped the evening game 13 to 4. Large crowds attended both exhibitions.

The usual opening ceremony was held in the afternoon, with Mayor Andrew McGavin hurling the first ball and Alderman James Adam the opposing slugger. The Mayor tossed up a couple of "hooks" and the best Alderman Adam could do was a foul tip.

Limiting the visitors to eight hits, Sonny Walker, big right-hander, hurled Victoria to victory in the afternoon engagement. Walker worked well and got himself into trouble in only two innings, the fourth when Lowneys pushed across their first run and in the fifth which saw three runners cross the plate.

Walker started for Lowneys but lasted just one third of an inning, going to the showers in favor of Richardson, after Victoria had scored two runs. The locals collected 11 hits off the two hurlers. Lowneys were charged with one error and Victoria four. Walker struck out four and Richardson nine.

Victoria got away to a fine start by pushing home two runs in the first inning. Palmer walked and went right around the sacks when Wallyer made a wild throw into right field after fielding Harris's bunt. The latter completed the circuit when Stewart dropped Maitland's high fly into centre field. At this stage Wallyer was taken out of the box for Richardson. Lowneys got a run back in the fourth. Lister beat out a hit to Palmer at second, was sacrificed to second by Pamphlet, went to third on a wild throw by Walker and scored on Van Hatten's ground out.

In the fifth Vancouver went into the lead with a three-run rally. B. Peters led off with a two-base knock to right centre. Richardson got a life when C. Restall dropped his pop to centre field. Biggah laced a single through shortstop, scoring B. Peters. Another hit, through second by S. Peters sent Richardson and Biggah home. Victoria got one run in their half of the inning. Harris singled over second and scored on Ted Maitland's line drive to left field for three bases.

Four runs in the sixth sewed up the game for Victoria. With one away, Pollard lifted a Texas Leaguer in behind second. T. Restall and Walker beat out infield hits to load the sacks. Palmer laid down a perfect bunt to score Pollard and beat the throw to first. Harris's hit to shortstop was too hot to handle and Restall scored. George came through with another hit through the box to score Walker and Palmer.

NIGHT GAME

A five-run barrage in the third inning gave the Lowneys the lead and a one-sided victory in the seven-inning nightcap. The visitors put on another scoring spree in sixth to push four runners home. Victoria scored a lone counter in the first inning and managed to get three more in the last frame.

Lloyd Cann, right-hand speed-ball artist, opened for Victoria but was yanked after two and two-thirds innings, after allowing six hits and five runs. Woodward, who took on the job, gave up 11 hits and seven runs. Cann fanned three and Woodward five.

Chuck Holmes, a diminutive little southpaw, went the distance for Lowneys. He was nipped for six hits and struck out nine. Victoria had six errors chalked up against them, with Lowneys drawing a couple.

TAKE LEAD

In the fifth Vancouver went into the lead with a three-run rally. B. Peters led off with a two-base knock to right centre. Richardson got a life when C. Restall dropped his pop to centre field. Biggah laced a single through shortstop, scoring B. Peters. Another hit, through second by S. Peters sent Richardson and Biggah home. Victoria got one run in their half of the inning. Harris singled over second and scored on Ted Maitland's line drive to left field for three bases.

LOCAL TRACK STARS SHINE

Victoria Athletes Make Fine Showing in Sports at Vancouver

A small invasion of Victoria Y.M.C.A. stars blazed a trail of wins and places through the C.C.F. Empire Day track and field meet held at Hastings Park, in Vancouver, yesterday. For the third year in succession Archie McKinnon's proteges captured the senior relay and gained permanent possession of the prized Columbia Trophy.

The four-man team with Joe Addison, Victoria's flying cop, the only veteran local star in the line-up, included Johnny Stewart, Bill Brown and Ray McGregor. The last mentioned two are Oak Bay boys recent additions to McKinnon's squad.

Victoria also crossed the line first in the junior relay. Campbell Williams of Nanaimo, Bill Brown, Stewart and McGregor making up the team. Jim Cousins won the high jump, while Addison made second in the senior 100-yard dash, second in the furlong and tied in the quarter mile. Addison and "Tiger" Rolfe of Vancouver hit the tape in a dead heat, and the former lost the toss to determine the winner.

In the junior section Johnny Stewart placed second in the 100 and the 220 yards, while Bill Brown took third places in both events. Anna Peden was third in the girls' high jump. Chuck Cunningham took third in the half mile and Fred Loeffler third in the 13 miles road grind.

Other members of the team were Art Freeman and Eva Mason.

WISE FOX TO SEEK HONORS

Canadian Thoroughbred Will Be Starter in Illinois Derby Saturday

CHICAGO—Twenty-seven horses, including the Canadian-owned Wise Fox, will be eligible for the $12,000 Illinois Derby which brings the Aurora race meeting to a close Saturday.

Wise Fox was entered in the Kentucky Derby but was scratched a few days before the classic because his owner-trainer, A. G. Tarn of Winnipeg, figured the horse was "not sufficiently conditioned for the grind."

If Wise Fox starts in the Illinois Derby, he may be opposed by Lawrin, Kentucky Derby winner. Other entries include Mountain Ridge, Bull Lea, Governor Chandler, Count Vallant, Eloata, Wise Barrister and Prince Argo.

Edmonton Hoop Marvels Take First Game of Series 61 to 38

EDMONTON, (C.P.)—Unable to shoot with the deadly accuracy of Edmonton Grads' diminutive speedballs, Cleveland Fisher Foods stood a game down today in their best-of-five challenge series for the Underwood Women's International Basketball Trophy.

To more than 2,500 fans who saw Cleveland beaten 61 to 38 in the first game of the series here last night, the story of the Grads victory was contained in the shooting averages of the two teams.

The taller Cleveland girls had little difficulty getting shots at the Edmonton basket—but found great difficulty in making them good. They counted only 16 of 80 shots, while Grads were potting 28 out of 65 tries for what is believed a record in shooting accuracy of 43.1 per cent in international competitions.

Grads left no doubt of their superiority as they rushed to their triumph. Held to a 12 to 10 margin at the first quarter mark, they boosted their lead to 29 to 18 at half time and to 44 to 26 at the three-quarters.

Teams and scores follow: Edmonton Grads—Northrup 7, Munton 4, Dann 9, Daniel 8, MacDonald 11, Brown 14 and Williamson 8. Cleveland—Graham 2, Korec 3, Fischel 15, Northside 4, Trave, Sobczak 8 and Teachout 6.

Torchy Peden In Ride at Edmonton

EDMONTON—Torchy Peden, famed reheaded Canadian six-day bike racing star, thrilled a crowd yesterday at Edmonton's Highland games. He raced a mile against time in 1:10, two seconds better than the best time ever made at the South Side Athletic Park grounds.

MIDDLESEX IN CRICKET WIN

Defeats Nottinghamshire By Innings and 51 Runs in English Play

LONDON—An innings and 51-run victory by Middlesex over Nottinghamshire yesterday broke a three-team tie for second position in the English county cricket competition. Lancashire retained top place Monday by defeating Northamptonshire by an innings and 57 runs.

Hitherto tied with Middlesex behind the Lancastrians, Surrey played a first-class match with the touring Australians and gained a draw. Yorkshire missed a chance to remain even with Middlesex by compiling first-innings points against Sussex.

The scores follow: Middlesex 474; Nottinghamshire 291 and 132 (Hardstaff 52 not out, Sims seven for 55); at Lord's.

Australians 528 and 232 runs for two wickets declared (Barnett 120 not out, Badcock 95); Surrey 271 (O'Reilly eight wickets for 104 runs) and 104 for one (Fletcher 93); at the Oval.

Sussex 200 and 115 for three (John Langridge 66 not out); Yorkshire 491; at Leeds.

Warwickshire 112 and 395 for eight declared (Dollery 127 not out, Cream 88); Leicestershire 349 and 160 for six; at Leicester. Hampshire 310 and 253 (Cressie 70, Paris 55, Clay six for 71); Glamorgan 488 for eight declared and 76 runs for three wickets; at Cardiff.

Somerset 158 and 200 (Buse 104, Mitchell four for 68); Derbyshire 297 and 64 runs for two wickets; at Derby.

Kent 602 for seven declared; Worcestershire 308 (Gibbons 80 not out) and 101 for two (King 60); at Dudley.

Grads Outshoot Cleveland Girls

Canadian Rallies To Win

Turns Back Bob Rutherford, England, 3 and 2; Good-man Easy Victor

TROON, Scotland (C.P.)—Sandy Somerville kept Canada's hopes in the British amateur golf championship burning by coming behind in today's third round to defeat Bob Rutherford of England 3 and 2.

The many-times Canadian champion from London, Ont., after blowing hot and cold on the out-journey, was 1 down at the turn. However, he rallied on the home stretch to shoot seven holes in 48 under four.

Cards follow: Somerville—554435534—38. Rutherford—4443315. Out—445535425—37. In—5354455.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, United States amateur champion and Walker Cup player, defeated W. Brisco, Irish internationalist, 6 and 5, to lead the surviving Americans into the fourth round. Goodman was followed into the round of 32 by Charles (Chuck) Kocsis, former United States intercollegiate champion from Detroit, who scored a 4 and 3 win over John S. Montgomerie of Great Britain. The two Americans will meet in the fourth round tomorrow morning.

CHAMPION BEATEN

Robert Sweeney, defending champion, was defeated in the second round by William Robb, Perthshire doctor. Sweeney, resident of London but born in the United States, was off his game and went out by a score of 5 and 4.

The English amateur champion, Frank Pennink, and an American Walker Cup player, Reynolds Smith, were other second-round casualties.

The United States ranks sustained their second loss of the day when Walker Cup Capt. Francis Ouimet of Boston lost 1 down to big Cecil Ewing, a member of the British team in 1936.

Pennink was eliminated by Charles Yates of the United States 3 and 2, while Smith bowed to young Yocelyn Walker, former Cambridge University captain, who sank putts from all over the green to win 2 up.

In other second-round matches today Hector Thompson, British champion in 1936, and Leonard Crawley, English titleholder in 1931, and both members of the 1938 British Walker Cup team, also advanced. Thompson beat G. E. Grant-Govan of Britain 1 up, while Crawley swamped Johnstone Godfrey, another Briton, 8 and 6.

Veteran Cyril Tolley, one of Britain's greatest internationalists and champion in 1920 and 1929, defeated Frank J. Bird 4 and 3; Thomas A. (Tony) Torrance, former Walker Cup star and captain in 1932, whipped G. Morton Dykes, member of the 1936 team, 2 and 1, and Rex Hartley, another ex-Walker Cupper, won from Raymond Oppenheimer of Britain on the 21st hole.

FRED HAS WINS

Fred Haas Jr., former Canadian amateur and United States intercollegiate champion from New Orleans, gained the third round with his second straight one-sided triumph. He turned back Dr. J. D. McCormack of Great Britain 7 and 5.

Harty Bentley, British Cup player who drew a first-round bye, won his second-round match from T. C. J. Mannors 8 and 6, and Eric W. Fiddian, former Walker Cupper who was English champion in 1932 and British runner-up the same year, beat G. W. Mackie 3 and 2.

War Admiral-Seabiscuit Race Is Canceled

Bad Legs Force The Biscuit From $100,000 Feature

May Attempt to Rematch Pair in Fall; Admiral Meets Pompoon Saturday

NEW YORK—Now that his match race with Seabiscuit has been canceled, War Admiral will resume the schedule originally mapped out and hook up with Pompoon, his three-year-old rival of 1937, in the classic Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park Saturday.

The $200,000 suburban may not have the public appeal of the $100,000 War Admiral-Seabiscuit duel, which was called off yesterday after Charles S. Howard, California owner of the Biscuit, reported his colt in no condition to run Monday, but it's likely to be just as good a horse race.

Indications Seabiscuit's legs were bothering him became apparent several days ago, according to a statement issued by Howard.

However, to determine definitely the colt's condition, trainer Tom Smith had planned to work the Biscuit late yesterday afternoon. But yesterday morning, after a short gallop, it was plain any such workout might harm the Biscuit.

MAY TRY AGAIN

Although there was no definite announcement, track officials indicated an attempt might be made to rematch the pair for Belmont's fall meeting, the last two weeks in September.

Several other top-notch handicap performers will be in the race Saturday but the interest will be in the Admiral and Pompoon—the pair that finished one, two, respectively, in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness last year. Pompoon, owned by J. H. Louchheim of Philadelphia, drew the line fine in the Preakness, in fact as close as it has been drawn against the son of Man o'War from Samuel D. Riddle's stable since he started on his unbeaten parade last year.

The distance of a mile and a quarter, the same as for the canceled match race, may be more to the liking of War Admiral but the weights—favor Pompoon. The Admiral has been allotted top weight of 132 pounds and Pompoon, 128.

Both are in top form. While preparing for the match race, War Admiral twice worked the distance in under 2:08. Pompoon, in his last start, won the mile and three-sixteenths of the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico in track record equating time of 1:56 4/5.

J. Keating Wins Quoiting Honors

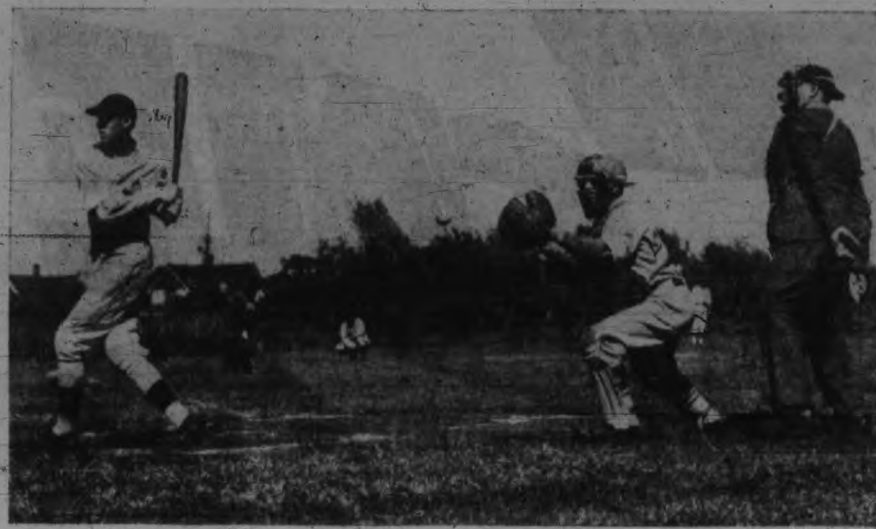

Local quotters played their part in the May 24 celebrations yesterday with a keenly contested tournament on the Pandora Street pitch.

A large crowd of interested spectators saw James Keating win the J. A. Worthington Cup for the fourth time in succession in a torrid singles battle with E. Gardiner. The eventual winner lobbed over 22 ringers in a 50-point game.

The Rennie-Taylor Trophy, donated for the doubles championship, went to George Ledingham and T. Martin, who took a close decision from J. Keating and F. Brice. In the B section the Coronation Cup for singles supremacy went to A. Rutherford, who disposed of Harold Rhodes in the final.

Rutherford was second in the ringer-total with 19 in a 50-point game.

He Took a Healthy Cut and Missed

The above action was caught at the plate during yesterday afternoon's intercity baseball game between Victoria and Vancouver Lowneys. The locals scored a smart 7 to 4 victory. The Victoria player at the plate is Ted Maitland, outfielder, who has just taken a mighty swing at the ball and missed. The little white pellet can be seen on its way into catcher B. Peters' waiting glove. The umpire is Steve Redgrave. In the background can be seen base umpire O'Connor and Coach Jerry Bell of Victoria.

BURRARDS IN LACROSSE WIN

Defeat Richmond Farmers 10 to 8 For First Win in Mainland League

VANCOUVER—Youthful Vancouver Burrards staged a five-goal scoring spree in the final quarter last night to record their first win in three starts in the 1938 intercity lacrosse season, a 10 to 8 trimming of the Richmond Farmers who have yet to win a game.

The result pulled the Burrards out of the league cellar and left Richmond to take their place. Richmond started strong and led 6 to 4 at the half. After each scored one goal in the third session, the Farmers were unable to hold Burrards in the final session and were outscored 5 to 1.

Johnny Dale led Burrards with three goals while J. Smith was top man for Richmond with three markers.

Duncan, won the mixed foursome. Results follow:

Runaway Seaflea Crashes Cruiser

After First Crash Boat Runs Amuck, Unpiloted and Rams Craft Again

Here's one for "Strange As It Seems."

The scene: Cordova Bay, where speedboat racers were treating the sunbathers to some thrilling exhibitions yesterday. The principle character was that diminutive little chap George Davis.

Davis lost control of the seaflea he was piloting and crashed into the side of Dennis Carter's handsome 25-foot stream-lined cruiser Theliden that was idling after upsetting Bob Jealousie from the surfboard. The impact momentarily dazed Davis and those on the Theliden hauled him aboard.

But everybody had neglected to turn off the seaflea's motor and away it sped with no one at the controls. Here's the strange part of the story. The little craft did

CUP FOOTBALL AT VANCOUVER

North Shore and St. Saviours Advance in Province Cup Competition

VANCOUVER—North Shore United humbled St. Andrews 5 to 3 and St. Saviours blanked the one-time Canadian champion New Westminster Royals 2 to 0 here yesterday, and won the right to face Victoria and Nanaimo in the semi-finals of the Province Cup soccer competition.

Draw to pair off the winners against island elevens will be made later.

Alec Christie and Mike McManus each scored two goals as North Shore United broke a half-time deadlock and forged to the front in the second half against St. Andrews.

Swede Larson put North Shore ahead at the start on a penalty kick, but Hap Smith evened the count for the Saints a minute later. Then Christie got his first goal to put North Shore up again before Ralph Forrester equalized for St. Andrews to knot the count at half-time.

Mike McManus came into the scoring picture with another North Shore goal early in the second half, but Lee Morley again equalized for the Saints on another penalty kick. Christie and McManus each added another in the last seven minutes to put the game away.

In the other battle, Jack Waugh scored both goals for St. Saviours in the first half. Royals pressed hard in the second half, but failed to break through the tight Saints' defense.

A half circle around Carter's boat and then charged on it again, ramming into the other side a few feet from the bow.

Both crashes stove in the side-planks of the Theliden and it will cost the owner a considerable sum for repairs.

Jean Campbell And Taylor Win

Victoria Lawn Holds Tourney

The Victoria Lawn Tennis Club staged a successful "get acquainted" progressive American handicap tournament on the Fort Street courts yesterday.

Fifty-eight entries spent an enjoyable afternoon under ideal weather conditions in the first tournament of the season. Close finals saw J. C. MacDonald capture honors in the men's section, and Miss Litton won the final in the women's division.

Prize winners in the spring competition were as follows: Miss Helga Cody-Johnson, Miss Eleanor Coulson, Mrs. Les Entwistle, Mrs. P. Birley, Ken Brown and Ken Rowe. The last mentioned three won consolation prizes.

GREAT LITTLE FIGHTERS SET

Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong in 15-Round Battle Tomorrow Night

NEW YORK—Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong, the two great little scrappers who come together over the 15-round route at the Garden Bowl tomorrow night, virtually completed their long siege of training yesterday. Both are finely drawn and impatient to go.

Ross, the welterweight champ, went through four or five rounds of limbering up at Stillman's Gym in the mid-town sector. Armstrong, ruler of the featherweights, stuck to his camp at Pompton Lakes in the New Jersey hills.

Popular interest in the bout obviously was on the increase. Promoter Mike Jacobs insisted the gate would reach $200,000 if the weather remained clear and warm.

There isn't going to be much difference in the weights when the two crawl between the ropes. Ross, who agreed to make 142

Cleveland Makes Real Title Bid

Indians Tounce New York Yanks 9 to 5 in American League Ball Feature

Cleveland Indians, who haven't won the American League pennant since 1920, although they often have threatened to take the flag, may turn out to be a very tough team to beat this season.

The Indians on their current home stand, climbed back to the lead after dropping to third place in the east. They won six out of seven games from eastern rivals, and they turned back the Yanks twice in two days.

The pitching of Johnny Allen, a former Yankee, and the clouting of Earl Averill, enabled the tribe to win 9 to 5 yesterday and drop New York into third place. The Boston Red Sox, who took over second with a 5 to 4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers, invade Cleveland today for a two-game series.

Allen, gaining his fifth victory, allowed nine hits, including a homer by Holt Dickey with Gehrig on base. Averill hit for the circuit with two aboard in the third and tripled with the corners crammed in the fourth.

Old Lefty Grove and slightly younger Jimmy Foss brought about Boston's victory. Grove, pitching his way out of frequent trouble, rang up his eighth straight victory. His closest squeak came in the ninth, when he retired York, Greenberg and Ross on pop flies with the tying run on third. Foss's homer with a mate aboard provided the winning runs.

BEES BEAT REDS

Only other game which altered the standings was Boston Bees' 10 to 9 triumph over Cincinnati, which sent them back into third place, a half game up on the Reds. Trailing 9 to 1 after Cincinnati's five-run rally in the sixth, the Bees rallied vigorously in three successive innings to win out.

New York's league-leading Giants belted over the St. Louis Cards 9 to 4 as Slick Castleman, who hadn't started a game since last August, came back and proved his back is no longer ailing by pitching an eight-hitter. Chicago's Cubs kept pace, two and a half games behind, by trimming Brooklyn 10 to 4.

Chicago's injury-ridden White Sox got some good news when Monte Stratton, laid up since March with a lame arm, came back to pitch them to a 10 to 3 decision over Washington.

Lynn Nelson's five-hit flinging and a well-timed attack enabled the Athletics to whip St. Louis pounds, was a perspiring 141 1/2 when he finished work yesterday, and Armstrong has been hovering around his stipulated minimum of 135.

Browns 6 to 1. Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Radiotelephone Service for Tugs and Other Craft

Coastal vessels can now obtain ship-to-shore telephone service when at sea. By means of radiotelephone links provided by the North-west Telephone Company they can connect with any telephone in the land telephone network. Calls are placed through "Long Distance". Already a number of tugboats, a salvage vessel and a private yacht are under contract for this service. Tugboat operators are finding the service highly advantageous in keeping in touch with their boats. They can talk to their skippers daily from home or office. For further information, call or write the Commercial Engineer's Department.

Individuality Is Wed To Chic In 1938's Summer Bridal Gowns

White Is This Year's Preference;
Simple Lines Are More Flattering

NEW YORK — Whether the summer bride wears a dramatic gown of shining satin or a frothy, billowing one of fine silk sheer, it will be white, alluringly feminine and 100 per cent certain to look as though it were made especially to flatter her.

For 1938's summer weddings, pastel wedding gowns are out. Severely tailored effects are replaced with lines that are as simple but a good deal less severe. And no one style is considered better than all others. The smart bride chooses her wedding gown for the same reasons she chooses any other dress in her trousseau—because it is flattering and because she likes it.

Furthermore, having a formal wedding with beautiful gown, veil, flowers, maid of honor, bridesmaids and all the other trimmings no longer necessitates spending large sums of money which the bride's long-suffering father must worry about for months after the ceremony. Budget-minded buyers of bridal departments are just as interested and willing to help the little bride with plans for an inexpensive wedding as they are to advise the girl with unlimited funds.

MODERATELY PRICED
For instance, a beautiful gown of white silk sheer with yoke and long sleeves of fine lace costs very little. And a robin's egg blue chiffon frock for maid or matron of honor makes an ideal summer dress that the attendant will find useful later on. The wedding gown itself can easily be made into an evening dress or a lovely hostess gown.

Short veils and long, trailing ones are both considered right. Here again the bride can suit her own taste.

With the help and advice of her florist and the expert who sells the wedding gown and the dresses for the attendants, any bride can plan her wedding with a definite picture in mind. She should, too, because unless the wedding party, after each member has taken his place about the altar, really looks like a beautiful painting, the bother of planning a big ceremony just isn't worth while.

ROBIN'S EGG BLUE
More and more brides are having the maid or matron of honor wear a dress exactly like those of the bridesmaids, with only a different bouquet or one bit of color—perhaps a sash—to distinguish her from the others.

Robin's egg blue being the shade of the moment as far as attendants' dresses are concerned, a bride might like to put her maid of honor in a robin's egg blue sheer with violet velvet sash and the maids in robin's egg blue dresses minus sashes, letting them carry flowers in shades of violet.

Few brides wear gloves any more. And gloves for the maids usually are of finest lace, dyed to match their gowns. Tiny Watteau's of fine linen straw or starched net and poke bonnets with streamers under the chin vie for favor with shoulder-length veils attached to coronets of flowers. Maids look especially demure and sweet in the latter.

Last-minute Hints to Bride

Get your permanent two weeks before the wedding. You'll need at least two preliminary settings.

See that your hands are fair to look upon—white as your bouquet, soft as your gloves.

If the groom dislikes public repairs of make-up—repowdering, renewing lipstick—don't do it. Wear his choice in nail polish color. His re-education in acceptance of his wife's beauty ways is best done gradually, imperceptibly. Don't hurry it.

To the bridesmaid: How about a beauty shower? Learn the bride-to-be's cosmetics and perfume choices, then go to it.

To brother: Find out what cosmetics sister uses. Then present her with a white beauty traveling case.

Since the groom sends the bride her bouquet, let him know in plenty of time exactly what you wish.

Learn to do two coiffures for honeymoon convenience—a version of your bridal hair-do for evening, a very simple one for day wear.

A last word: Always learn from the florist how to carry your bouquet and insist on your attendants doing likewise.

Preliminary Arrangements

1. A list of guests is made out, including the names of those whom the groom and his family wish invited.

2. Church and clergyman are bespoken for the date and hour appointed for the wedding and the sexton notified.

3. Organist is engaged, also choir, if choral music is desired, or a friend may be called on for a solo.

4. The invitations are ordered in good time so that they can be sent out three weeks in advance of the date.

5. Orchestra or trio is engaged to furnish the music at the reception, if it is a large wedding.

6. Caterer is consulted and date secured. He also furnishes the awnings and carpets called for at a large city wedding.

7. Florist is given order to decorate church and house, and to mark the guest pews with white satin ribbon, unless this pleasant duty is undertaken by girl friends of the bride.

8. The necessary cars for the bridal party should be ordered, and, if desired, a doorman engaged to open the car doors at the church and home.

To the Groom

The following are the expenses undertaken by the groom:

1. Wedding ring.
2. Clergyman's fee (also sexton's fee).

3. Marriage license.
4. Gift for the bride.

5. Gifts for the bridesmaids. These are alike and may be bracelets, brooches, necklaces, compacts, etc., and chosen in consultation with the bride. Modern usage sometimes relegates this gesture to the bride.

6. Bride's bouquet, and one for each bridesmaid. Corsages for bride's and groom's mother is also a wise gesture.

7. Boutonnieres for himself, best man and ushers.

8. Gift to best man.
9. Gift to each usher. These sometimes take the form of spats and ties; cuff links or cigarette cases are presented, and occasionally both.

10. Car to take himself and best man to church.

11. Car for bride and himself on leaving church and when departing for honeymoon.

Invitations Are Important Item

Very strict etiquette governs the form of wedding invitations, and it is well to order these from a stationery department of recognized standing who can exhibit correct forms of invitations.

Wedding invitations should be engraved on a double sheet of smooth, unglazed, plain white paper with a matted border. Script for the engraving is generally favored, but a choice is allowed of block, shaded block, or Old English. The sheets are folded once and fitted into a plain white envelope without any mud-lage on the flap. This is enclosed in an outer envelope in which are written the name and address, as on an ordinary letter. On the inner envelope the name alone is written, without the address.

A single invitation is never sent to include every member of a household. To address an invitation to "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and family" is incorrect. If there are grown sons and daughters, separate invitations should be sent—one addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, one to "The Misses Smith" and two more to Mr. Ralph Smith and Mr. James Smith.

The invitations should be ordered early, and sent out either two or three weeks before the date of the wedding.

One type of this year's style in wedding invitations is four and one-half inches by six inches and consists of a double sheet of vellum which is inserted in an envelope without folding. There is a five-eighths-inch beveled edge.

ANSWERING INVITATIONS

An invitation to a wedding is always answered, whether it has R.S.V.P. inscribed on it or not, as the number of guests to prepare for must be known beforehand. The reply, which is sent promptly, is written in the same formal style as the invitation.

The bride will like the new brush-comb toiletry. It is purse-size. Can be had in white.

Come in today and visit the silver service of your dreams by ordering a set of the Talisman new Talisman pattern. We'll let your gift-giving friends know your pattern selection.

Bride Can Now Have Trousseau Lingerie With Hand-made Look

Modern Manufactured Items
Are All in Favor of the Budget

NEW YORK — Whether she likes lace-trimmed, rather elaborate slips, gowns and negligees or very simple, neatly tailored ones, this year's summer bride will find trousseau lingerie lovelier than ever.

Nightgowns with matching jackets look even more like sumptuous dinner dresses than they did last year. Negligees are cut on housecoat lines. Colors are prettier. Monograms are used with even greater originality.

"HAND-MADE" ITEMS AT BUDGET PRICES

No longer is hand-made underwear priced only for those with more generous budgets. No longer do you have to take those unattractive little metal length-adjuster gadgets on the straps of machine-made slips. In fact, if you shop around a bit, you can find nice machine-made slips with a hand-made look. And this is true of moderately priced nightgowns, too.

Double chiffon negligees, in dusty pastels and cool shades, such as mint green, are smart. Those combining two materials—for example, sheer silk and lush tulle—are flattering. One especially nice number of this type comes in a rich shade of tea-rose and is lavishly trimmed with stunning, fine-lace. Form-fitting bodice and full, swirling skirt are of sleek satin, with extra full sleeves in sheer. The nightgown, shown with it, combines sheer and satin, too.

A beautiful tailored negligee of ivory satin is lined with burgundy satin and has a burgundy monogram on the pocket. And for breakfast on the terrace or weekend in the country, what could be prettier than a white housecoat-type negligee of cotton with chenille stripes? It's washable, of course, and like chenille bedspreads, requires no ironing.

Among lingerie sets for the bride to wear on her wedding day, lace-trimmed white satin ones remain most popular. But other slips, pants and nightgowns for her travel trunk can be more colorful. There's sure to be at least one printed nylon gown with a matching bolero jacket.

A nightgown of lemon yellow sheer printed with pale blue forget-me-nots has a rather high neckline and a collar embroidered with flowers to match those of the print. A cream-colored satin gown is shown with a sheer, billowing coffee-colored negligee. And to wear under sheer summer blouses there are white satin and crepe slips with lace bands and appliqued medallions to show through.

Summer Groom Has Problems

Formal (high noon) wedding: Morning coat with striped trousers. Light grey or white vest. Silk hat. Ascot tie with wing collar or turned-down collar with four-in-hand tie. Spats optional, but must be white if worn.

Formal evening wedding: Full dress suit of black, midnight blue or dark grey. White tie. Vest should be of the same color, but white or light grey is permissible. At an informal wedding after dark there is much to be said for a dark blue suit with black shoes, white collar and a dark tie. In the daytime lighter suits may be worn if desired, but they are not strictly correct. It should be emphasized that guests at a wedding should always dress in the same style as the bridegroom. Discrepancies in dress detract from the dignity of the ceremony and sometimes cause embarrassment.

Bridal Bouquet Goes Modern

Brides' bouquets, like every other fashion, change with the style, and this year the wedding which is smart will show a very definite trend in flowers of the bridal party. Gone are the arm sheaves and bouquets; the bride of today will carry a more formal bouquet, and she has a wide choice of flowers, for the florist delights in creating individual styles which will blend with the style of her dress.

Harmony of line is a first requisite of beauty, and every bride can be sure of beauty in her entourage if she follows certain principles, particularly with her own and her attendants' bouquets.

The trend in dress today is along princess lines; that is, unbroken by cross planes. The bride's bouquet should follow the same idea. So florists today compose bouquets with this in mind. These are carried in both hands directly in front, thus continuing the symmetry of the general ensemble.

Following this dominant feature, flowers tend to be massed in closer formation than in preceding years. Blooms are confined nearer the heads. In some cases the stems are wound, allowing no green to show. Villa lilies are wound with white satin. These flowers, which are only for formal weddings, show no green but their own heart-shaped leaves, and only tall brides should carry them. They are a stately flower.

COMPACT GARDENIA BOUQUET POPULAR

Those fragrant favorites, gardenias, appear only with their own glossy leaves, and compact bouquets are the most popular form. Sometimes a muff of these white blossoms is carried, always directly in front, and sometimes a long spray bouquet; but never in a ribboned shower effect. In fact, the smartest bouquets show no ribbon.

The tendency is away from greenery with bridal flower groupings. Too often the presence of foliage or fern detracts from the general effect, and the wisdom of artists is seen in the refusal of most florists to use anything other than the flower's own foliage.

Nothing pleases a florist more than to be given swatches of the bridal frocks on which to base the floral scheme. Flowers can then be matched exactly or appropriate contrast secured with certainty. Frequently a certain shade in the bride's gown or those of her attendants forms the basis for the bouquets, other tones being added for emphasis.

GARDEN FAVORITES ARE USED

Stocks and snapdragons, as well as roses, are favorites just now. Sweet peas are such fairy things, they will never lose their popularity, and as summer progresses delphinium will join the procession.

With the increasing informality of weddings has come the growing importance of the corsage. For suits it is most appropriate, but if a bride insists on carrying flowers, she should choose an informal arrangement of mixed blooms.

And when she dashes through showers of confetti for her new husband's car for the motor honeymoon, she may be wearing the centre of her bridal bouquet. If so instructed, the florist will arrange the bouquet so that part may be extracted before the remainder is gaily tossed to waiting friends.

WARDROBE ECONOMY

It's economy, to plan your wardrobe around one color idea. A dress that is too extreme or of a color which is at odds with the rest of your wardrobe is apt to hang in the closet most of the season. Trick trimmings, odd buckles, belts and buttons often "make" the dress, but be sure they are of good quality that will stand up under plenty of wear and will not be ruined by the first laundering or cleaning.

Practicability Marks Summer Bride's Outfit For Informal Wedding

Choose Frock Suitable for General Wear Later On

NEW YORK—Smart bridal outfits for informal wedding are as practical as they are flattering. Whether she's married before an improvised altar in the living-room with only members of the immediate families gathered around, in the rectory or in the garden, the summer bride who plans a small, informal wedding picks her own costume with an eye to wearing it a good deal later on.

For an afternoon wedding in her home, the bride may choose a dinner dress type gown of lace, silk sheer, organdie, mousseline or some other summery fabric. If she wants to wear it for little dinners and to the theatre next fall and winter as well as this summer, she's more likely to choose lace or silk than one of the frothy, summery materials.

Whether the bride wears a hat or a veil with a long lace dress depends, of course, on the size and formality of the wedding. In either case, the bridegroom wears clothes in keeping with her costume. If she picks a long lace dress and a hat, he may wear a dark business suit. If she wears a formal veil, he chooses a morning suit (striped trousers and a cutaway).

MAY WEAR STREET COSTUME

For a simple ceremony in the rectory or at home, a becoming street costume is right. The bride who plans to leave on a honeymoon directly after the wedding usually wears something that is appropriate for traveling. It may be a two-piece suit of bengaline, faille or other heavy silk, worn with a rather dressy hat—perhaps with a veil—and a shoulder corsage. Or it can be one of the new suits of cotton lace with tweedy, homespun-like finish. One especially lovely suit of this type includes a skirt of navy lace, a frilly white blouse and a loose-hanging, straight, three-quarter length coat of white lace with navy lining.

she likes. In this case, her maid of honor would wear a similar kind of ensemble, and the groom a dark business suit with white or dark red carnation in his buttonhole.

Naturally, a street suit or even a street-length silk dress seems out of place in a garden, however small the wedding. The bride's gown may be ever so simple—and quite right for dinner dancing later on, but it ought to be floor length and in a light color. Or gandie, mousseline, net, lace and so on are the most popular materials for garden wedding dresses.

While the formal wedding calls for a white bridal gown of course, and the garden ceremony for a pastel shade, small simple weddings at home or in the rectory do not. The idea that a bride must choose a light color regardless of where the ceremony takes place is outmoded. If she wears a suit, it can be navy blue, dark green, brown, even black. And a street-length dress ought to be in a shade which will look smart on the street later on. White or pastel gloves, bright flowers on her hat and the real flowers in her corsage take away any sombre look a dark, two-piece suit or a dark street dress might have.

Purchasing The Silver and China

The following is suggested as a minimum set of flat silver for the bride to purchase:

Home-made Wedding Cake

A brilliant wedding cake is a beautiful symbol. It is the first food the bride and groom share together, surrounded by well-wishing relatives and friends.

Wedding Cake (14 Pounds)

One pound almonds, 3 pounds currants, 3 pounds raisins, 1 pound mixed sliced peel, 2 cups cognac brandy, 4 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking soda, 3 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 nutmeg grated, 1 pound shortening, 1 1/2 cups firmly-packed brown sugar, 16 eggs, 3 drops wintergreen, 1 cup New Orleans molasses, 1 cup sour cream.

Blanch and shred almonds; mix with fruits, peel and brandy, and let stand in closely-covered jar two days.

Mix and sift flour, soda and spices.

Cream shortening until soft and smooth. Gradually add sugar, creaming until fluffy. Beat in thoroughly 1 egg at a time, then wintergreen and molasses.

Add flour mixture alternately with sour cream, mixing well after each addition. Stir in brandied fruits and nuts.

Turn into greased loaf pans, lined with waxed paper and again greased, filling them about 3/4 full. Cover tightly with waxed or greased paper and steam two hours. Then bake in very slow oven (250 degrees F.) about two hours, removing paper the last half-hour to dry surface.

For a decorative two-layer cake use frosted sticks of cardboard to support the upper layer. The little bells on the sticks, which look like marble columns, and on each corner of the lower layer stick small bows of "wedding" veil. The frosted rosettes and scroll work which are so definite a part of a wedding cake can be bought in a five-and-ten store and applied to your own glistening white frosting.

If you are not quite sure of your skill as a cake decorator, you can pay your local baker to decorate it for you in his best professional manner.

FRUIT PUNCH

- 1 pint water
- 4 cups white sugar
- 2 1/2 tablespoons tea
- 1 quart boiling water
- 1 pint orange juice
- 1 pint grape juice
- 1 pint lemon juice
- 3 quarts ice water

- 2 quarts ginger ale
- 1 large can crushed pineapple
- 1 cup thin orange slices

Bring to boil the 1 pint water and 4 cups sugar. Infuse tea with 1 quart boiling water. Combine strained tea and syrup. Add the orange juice, lemon juice, grape juice, ginger ale, ice water and crushed pineapple. Garnish with the thin slices of orange. This is a delicious fruit punch and will make 30 large or 60 small glasses.

HUGE CROWDS AT NANAIMO

Celebration Parade and Rodeo Draws Visitors From Mainland and Island

Special to the Times
NANAIMO—This island town was literally jammed with people for yesterday's May 24 celebration.

From the crowning of May Queen Vivian McKenzie in the morning until the final strains of the dancing died away at the grand ball in Pygmy Pavilion in the evening, every event drew capacity crowds.

It is estimated 3,000 excursionists came over from Vancouver. Hundreds of cars arrived carrying loads of holiday makers from Victoria and southern Island points as well the upper island.

Lady Kathleen Villiers crowned Queen Vivian at the G-vo playground on Haliburton Street. This preceded the grand street parade led by Major Bond and Cowboy Little Hack Keenan.

The afternoon's program started with the crowning of Miss Verna Beban as the Nanaimo Rodeo Queen to begin the wild west show of 18 events.

The Nanaimo Indian tribe and personnel of the rodeo took part in the production, "Covered Wagon Days."

Dancing at Pygmy Pavilion commenced at 9 and went on to the small hours of this morning.

St. Ann's Academy float was first and the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce float second in the organizations' class.

J. B. Clearbue will be the guest speaker at the Ward Three Liberal Association's regular meeting tomorrow night at 8, in Liberal headquarters.

A congregational social will be held and a lecture given by Rev. S. R. Orr on "Maori Life and Customs" tonight in Burns' Hall, 1406 Douglas Street.

TOWN TOPICS

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce board of directors will meet on Thursday at 4 in the committee room of the Chamber.

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, in a letter to the city today, supports the application of the Relief Project Workers' Union for a tag day in the city.

A synopsis of courses to be conducted at the British Columbia Fire Chiefs' Association fire college scheduled for Vernon from June 20 to 22 during the fire chiefs' convention there, is contained in a letter received today at the City Hall.

For a man on relief who has a large garden, two or three bushels of seed potatoes are sought by the City Welfare and Relief Department. Anyone who has seed potatoes to donate is asked to telephone G 8104.

The City Council will meet next Monday evening at 8, Mayor Andrew McGavin stated today. Lack of sufficient business to make a meeting worthwhile this week had resulted in cancellation of plans for a session prior to Monday, he said.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson, B.C. Minister of Public Works, left yesterday for Ottawa, where he will attempt to negotiate federal grants toward a joint Dominion-provincial road program in British Columbia this year.

A suggestion that the proposal advanced by Alderman W. H. Davies, to the effect that the city sponsor a "build your home in Victoria" campaign, should be linked with the Home Improvement Plan, and Dominion Housing Act is contained in a letter from officials of the latter group received at the City Hall today.

Following an extended tour of inspection through British Columbia Police detachments of the province, Thomas W. S. Parsons, assistant commissioner of the Provincial Police, has returned to his office at headquarters. Mr. Parsons visited detachments from Vancouver to Prince Rupert, then made calls at other divisional points between Prince George, Fort St. James and Liljoeet, taking in the Cariboo and Skeena districts.

The bicentenary of John Wesley's conversion will be fittingly commemorated at Metropolitan United Church this evening. A mass meeting, sponsored by the Victoria Presbytery, will be held at 8. All United Church congregations of the city are co-operating and an invitation is extended to members of other interested congregations. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse will conduct the service and Dr. W. J. Sippell will give the address. An augmented choir, representative of the United Church choirs of the city will be in attendance, and will lead the singing.

The twelfth annual reunion banquet of the 88th Battalion C.E.F., comprised of Victoria men, was held Tuesday evening in Spencer's dining room, on the twenty-second anniversary of the departure of the unit for service overseas. After an entertaining program during and following the dinner, the veterans marched to the Cenotaph where they honored the memory of their fallen comrades by placing a wreath at the foot of the war memorial.

A brief eulogy was read by Carew Martin. George Turner presided during the dinner. Those taking part in the speech-making were A. B. Morkill, Frank Gietma, A. D. Crease, A. Goddard, H. Despard Twigg and R. H. Ley. Those assisting in the entertainment were A. Weatherill, R. H. Ely and Bert Zala.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A funeral service for the late William H. A. Parker will be held here Friday. Purchasing agent and commodore of the tugboat fleet operated by Canadian Western Lumber Company Ltd., he died Tuesday in his 53rd year.

In 1928 test flights between Calgary and Winnipeg were started. A regular service between these two cities was inaugurated in 1930. The speaker said that sometime during the summer regular flights of the Trans-Canada Airways will be held from Montreal to Vancouver. The airplane will leave Montreal at 9 in the evening and arrive at Vancouver before noon the following day.

He said that the air mail service of Canada was going ahead so fast that it was hard to keep touch with the many improvements and additions.

"Through all history the postal service has pioneered every phase of transportation," Mr. Corley said.

The convention adjourned for lunch at the Hudson's Bay Company dining room as guests of the company.

THIEVES BUSY OVER HOLIDAY

Radios and Small Amounts of Cash Taken in Series of Break-ins

A series of holiday and week-end robberies were being investigated by city police today. No heavy losses were reported.

An eight-tube radio, valued at $30, was stolen from MacDonald's Service Station at Hillside Avenue and Douglas Street, by thieves who gained access to the premises by breaking glass in the front door last night.

Two Jacks, 1315 Government Street, was also entered last night and the contents of a pin ball machine were stolen. The prowlers removed bars from a rear window to gain admission.

Miss J. Cathcart, 1323 Birch Street, reported she returned home shortly after midnight last night to find the house had been ransacked and $175 in small change stolen. The thieves used a ladder to reach a bedroom window.

Petty cash was stolen from the office of Neon Products, Blanshard Street, which was found open by Constable Ed. Sturrock during his night rounds.

On Monday night the home of A. P. Gillespie, 1326 Manor Road, was entered by second-story burglars who climbed on to a porch roof then through a window to gain access to the premises. There was nothing reported taken.

An electric razor, a flashlight and batteries and a $45 radio constituted the loot of thieves who entered Wilcox Limited, 648 Fisgard Street, on Sunday night. Glass was found broken in a rear window through which the prowlers climbed.

POSTMASTERS OPEN SESSION

British Columbia Postmasters Here For Meetings This Week

An address by J. L. Jackson, Salmon Arm, president, opened the annual convention of the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, which is being held in the Empress Hotel this week.

Mr. Jackson stressed the need for promotion by merit in the post office system and the elimination of patronage.

The president read a brief draft and presented by a committee of the branch to the civil service inquiry committee, noting ways in which the service could be improved.

Postmaster George H. Gardiner, in welcoming the provincial postmasters, gave a brief historical review of the post office activities in Victoria. The present building was first occupied in 1898. In 1883 Victoria had the first letter carrier service.

J. B. Corley, district director of postal service at Calgary, Alberta, spoke to the convention on the latest developments of the postal service of Canada inasmuch as the air mail branch is concerned.

"The postal services has been a history of romance for the last 5,700 years, but the developments in the last five years have been the most amazing," he said.

BALLOONS AND PIGEONS
The first organized mail service was in 1870, between France and England, in which balloons and carrier pigeons were used. The Great War clearly showed the use of airplanes in carrying messages.

In 1918 the first air mail flight was made on this continent. This was between New York and Washington, D.C. Within the following nine years all developments in the service were made entirely within the post office. Post office pilots and planes were used, of which 43 pilots were killed and 200 airplanes destroyed.

In 1928 test flights between Calgary and Winnipeg were started. A regular service between these two cities was inaugurated in 1930. The speaker said that sometime during the summer regular flights of the Trans-Canada Airways will be held from Montreal to Vancouver. The airplane will leave Montreal at 9 in the evening and arrive at Vancouver before noon the following day.

He said that the air mail service of Canada was going ahead so fast that it was hard to keep touch with the many improvements and additions.

"Through all history the postal service has pioneered every phase of transportation," Mr. Corley said.

The convention adjourned for lunch at the Hudson's Bay Company dining room as guests of the company.

No Record Set By Holiday Weather

While the weatherman favored holiday-making Victorians with excellent weather for May 24, the temperature soared to no record heights: Gonzales Observatory recorded 62 degrees.

Yesterday's favorable elements climaxed a week of balmy breezes and warm May sunshine. Victorians crossed their fingers in anticipation of good weather and they were not disappointed, hundreds flocking to the beaches to take home their first sunburns of the year.

Gala Homecoming For Beaux-Arts

Dominion Drama Festival Winners Due Back This Afternoon

A gala homecoming was planned this afternoon for members of the Beaux-Arts Society dramatic team which carried off the Bessborough Trophy premier award of the Dominion Drama Festival in Winnipeg.

The returning actors were to be greeted at the Vancouver boat by a group of their fellow members in the society, headed by the president, Brian Burdon-Murphy.

Miss Doreen McGregor, the Beaux-Arts candidate in the Miss Victoria contest, was to present a bouquet to Betty Hetherington, leading lady of the cast, which brought the Dominion Drama Festival award to Victoria for the first time with its performance of Noel Coward's "Hands Across the Sea."

Pipers were to play the trophy-bearing players ashore.

One member of the cast, Leslie Hardie, returned to Victoria ahead of the other players, reaching the city in time to attend the Beaux-Arts Mayfair Ball on Monday night.

Other members of the cast were H. F. Hewitt, Lella Harris, Dennis Harris, Ann Piers, Emilia McConahan, Dennis Sweeting and Waldo Skillings.

Fisherman Missing In Coast Waters

Provincial Police on Vancouver Island's east coast are searching for traces of Joseph Poloski, fisherman, who has been missing in his fishboat, Lillian, since Sunday, according to radio advice received at headquarters here today.

On Sunday Poloski left Alert Bay for Milbank Sound and has been unreported since. It is understood he had intended to sell his fish at St. John's Harbor, but he has not been reported there.

CITY WAGES TO BE DISCUSSED

The special salary committee appointed by Mayor Andrew McGavin to consider representations made by certain of the city employees, will meet at the City Hall on Friday afternoon at 2:30 for the first of two sessions scheduled on the issue, Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman, announced today.

"We have been waiting for a report from Mr. MacDonald, city comptroller-treasurer, on the various cases," the alderman said. "That information is now ready and we will give it consideration at two meetings at least. There will be no downward revision in salaries," he added.

Possibility of a halt in the application of any changes that might be recommended until after the city's refunding appeal decision is given, was seen in certain quarters today.

John A. Teague, Pioneer, Dies

Native son and pioneer of Victoria, John Abington Teague died in the Jubilee Hospital yesterday morning. Well known as a druggist in the city, he was in his 68th year.

Son of the late John Teague, a former mayor of Victoria, Mr. Teague had lived here all his life. His home was at 1530 Cook Street.

He is survived by his widow, a stepdaughter, Miss Frances Gosling, in Victoria; a nephew, James Brown, in Nanaimo, and two nieces, one in Seattle and one in Glendale, Calif.

The body is at Sands Mortuary. Funeral plans will be announced later.

WRONG ADDRESS

Arthur Rivers, who suffered wounds to his neck and was taken to the Royal Jubilee Hospital last week-end, lived at 1038 Fort Street and not 1032 Fort Street as published in the Times on Monday night. Mr. Rivers has been discharged from hospital.

CITY TRAFFIC RECORD GOOD

Police Seek to Maintain High Standard Already Set For 1938; Contest On

As a result of a close check being kept by city police and the institution of the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit Victoria this year is experiencing a creditable falling off in the number of serious accidents being reported. So far this year no one has been fatally injured in traffic collisions.

While the traffic branch of the City Police Department is naturally pleased with the improvement in this year's records there is no intention of letting up on the present close check. Authorities point out that with the busy tourist season approaching local motorists must set the example by closely observing the minor traffic regulations.

The most common complaints are those of failing to observe arterial highway signs and failing to observe automatic traffic signals.

To the end of April this year 133 accidents were reported to police, in which 49 persons were injured, only 10 seriously. Last year for the same period 138 accidents were reported, and while only 40 persons were injured, this total included two fatalities and 14 persons seriously injured.

Keeping in close touch with the traffic situation, Mayor Andrew McGavin and members of the City Police Commission have warned that motorists must exercise every precaution. An important consideration at this time of year is that schoolchildren will soon be on the streets all day while enjoying their summer holidays and their presence requires added care on the part of motorists.

In connection with this general campaign for safe driving and the preservation of Victoria's good record this year, General Motors and its western Canadian dealers are promoting a safety slogan contest, which closes May 31. Details may be secured from General Motors dealers of the city.

ARBITRATION NOT DECIDED

Fishermen Carry Dispute Before Hon. G. S. Pearson

Hon. George S. Pearson, Commissioner of Fisheries for the province, had intervened today in a difference between cannery operators and two fishermen's unions in Vancouver.

Asked by a delegation from the unions to set up arbitration on the price to be paid for fish this season, Mr. Pearson said he had taken steps to learn whether canners were negotiating with the men as required by the Fisheries Act.

"I am not going to set up arbitration simply at the request of a minority group," Mr. Pearson said. "I have asked the canners if they can assure me they are carrying on reasonable negotiations with the men in each area."

Spokesmen for the Pacific Coast Fishermen's Union and the Salmon Purse Seiners' Union, told Mr. Pearson the canners were not dealing with them. Under the act they were entitled to arbitration, they claimed.

"Before this is done I must be satisfied that a dispute exists," said Mr. Pearson. "There are a number of fishermen's unions. The canners claim they are carrying out satisfactory negotiations."

The Fisheries Act, he explained, provided that if canners fail to reach a settlement with the men on the price of fish, arbitration can be started.

Seek Site For Sunday School

A request for the gift of a lot on which to erect a Sunday School in the James Bay district is contained in a letter from Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of British Columbia, received at the City Hall today.

The bishop remarked upon the number of reverted properties held by the city and the progress being made by the church among the young people of the locality before asking for a lot "free from rock and nearly free from taxes."

BUDDY GREEN IMPROVES

Buddy Green, local racing driver who was injured when his car turned over at the Langford Speedway on Saturday night, was reported "fairly good" and improving steadily at St. Joseph's Hospital today. He is suffering from spine and shoulder fractures and numerous cuts and bruises.

OBITUARIES

CAROLINE DIGBY

The funeral of Caroline Digby was held on Monday afternoon from the family home at 1012 Redfern Street. Many friends attended the service, which was led by Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn. Burial was in the family plot at Ross Bay cemetery. The pallbearers were H. W. Hart, A. E. Evans, S. Thorn and G. Gribble.

LOUIS GORDON

Louis Gordon died in the Jubilee Hospital yesterday, in his 64th year. His home was at 603 Belleville Street. Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, he had lived in British Columbia for many years. He served overseas in the Great War, going from Alberta with the 45th Battalion. He is survived by a sister in England. Rev. T. H. McAllister will lead the funeral service in McCall Brothers' Funeral Home tomorrow morning at 10:30. Burial will be at Colwood.

JESSIE D. EBERTS

A resident of Victoria for more than 40 years, Miss Jessie Douglas Eberts died in the Lebanon Nursing Home on Monday, aged 71. Born at Chatham, Ont., she lived at "Cherry Bank," 818 Quadra Street. The funeral took place this afternoon from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, with Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick leading the service in St. John's Church. Burial was in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

JOHN MCKENZIE

Rev. Bryce Wallace, Rev. James Hood and R. G. Howell led the funeral service for John McKenzie in McCall Brothers' Funeral Home on Monday afternoon. The hymns sung were "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." Pallbearers at the service and at the burial in Colwood Burial Park were K. McKenzie, H. McKenzie, P. McKenzie, R. Wilson, W. Webster and J. A. Calderhead.

GEORGE SIMON

The body of George Simon was laid to rest in Colwood Burial Park on Monday afternoon after many of his friends had attended the funeral service led by Rev. F. Comley at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home. The hymn "Abide With Me" was sung by the congregation, and "The Old Rugged Cross" by Mrs. H. Shingles as a solo. The pallbearers were G. Simon, L. R. Simon, R. Simon and L. Buxton.

MARGARETTA WATSON

Many friends attended the funeral service of Mrs. Margareta G. Watson on Monday afternoon. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn led the service in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. There were many flowers. The hymns sung were "Sun of My Soul" and "Abide With Me." After the service the body was laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park. The pallbearers were Inspector J. T. Boulton, William Ashton, P. B. Scurrah, A. E. Johnson and H. G. Allen and Alderman J. A. Worthington, representing the board of cemetery trustees.

Four Hurt In Motor Accident

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Four persons were injured last night, three severely, when the car in which they were riding crashed into another on the highway a few miles south of here and rolled 75 feet down an embankment to destruction.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson, who were married at Spokane last Saturday, and G. Gormley, All suffered cuts and fractures of ribs. They were brought to the hospital here. Miss Jean Speirs, another passenger in the car, was only slightly injured and allowed to proceed home.

SALARIES ARE UNDER REVIEW

Saanich Teachers Will Meet Trustees Next Week On Comparative Schedules

A special meeting of the Saanich School Board will be held next Monday with a delegation of municipal teachers at which changes in the present salary schedule will be discussed.

A preliminary discussion on the question was held on Monday when a teachers' committee presented a schedule which it had drafted. The trustees presented a schedule which had been prepared by Trustee Nathaniel Gray and approved by the board.

Pending next week's meeting trustees will be provided with a copy of each schedule for comparison and the teachers' committee will seek reaction of the group it represents to the board's draft.

Councillors L. H. Passmore and E. C. Warren, newly-elected members of the board, were sworn in at Monday's meeting by George McGregor, J.P., and Trustee Gray was elected chairman of the board, a position which he has held since the resignation of A. E. Hull.

Committees named by the chairman were: Finance, Trustees Stanley F. Miles and Warren, works and grounds; Trustees M. W. Dawson and Passmore; athletics; Trustees Warren and Dawson, and health and morals; Trustees Passmore and Miles.

Local Berries Now On Wholesale Row

Strawberries took the top spot on wholesale row today with the arrival of the first shipment of local fruit on the market. A consignment of eight baskets came from Salt Spring Island.

While larger shipments are expected in the near future as the season advances, California berries are arriving daily. Okanagan apples are nearly cleaned out, with the final shipments of last season's fruit reaching Victoria, one the end of the week and one next week.

The Victoria Branch of the Canadian Pensioners' Association will hold its monthly general meeting Friday evening at 7:30.

FAILURE OF PLANE'S TWO MOTORS BLAMED FOR DEATHS OF TEN

gully, 25 feet from the plane itself, which landed in a mass of wild grape vines. A wing was left 75 feet from the two trees it clipped off.

DIG IN DEBRIS
Firemen in suburban independent village, where the crash occurred, battled the flames for several hours and dug into the smoke-filled debris for the bodies, from which the clothes had been burned almost entirely off.

Then Department of Commerce inspectors searched the wreckage for some clue that might throw light on the cause of the crash.
United Air Lines listed the dead, besides Brechun, as:

L. Arthur Doby, 42, of Watertown, Mass., who was en route to Chicago to attend a funeral service for his late brother, Harold, who had died only a few hours before. The crash victim was a district credit manager for the Texaco Oil Co.

C. F. Lickel, New York businessman (A. and M. Maraghe-sian Co.).

R. P. Morrell, New York Importing firm salesman.

J. R. Moffett, identified with the Masonite Corp., Chicago.
E. H. Voblin, 47, of Los Angeles,
Chief test pilot for the Douglas Aircraft Co., and former airline flier.

Richard C. Lewis, Ansonia, Conn., salesman.

Pilot James L. "Monty" Brandon of Chicago, a flier 19 years.
Co-pilot, A. S. Merrifield of Chicago.

Stewardess Mildred Mack of Chicago.

The airliner was due at Cleveland at 10:24 p.m. E.S.T.

FLAMES SEEN
Several residents of the vicinity reported flames shot from the craft before it plunged earth-ward, but Major John Berry, Cleveland airport superintendent, said Radio Operator James C.
Wynne saw the plane fall from his position in the airport control tower.

"The plane did not catch fire until the impact," Berry said.
The last radio message from the ship was received at the airport at 10:07 p.m., about eight minutes before the crash. It was:
"Merrifield reporting: Ship over Parkman, Ohio (45 miles distant). Four thousand feet altitude. Everything O.K."

Airline spokesmen said the liner was directly on its course Andrew Zimba, 30, one of the first to reach the crash scene, said he saw the airliner streaking low near his home.

"Flames were coming out of the plane," Zimba said. "Only one motor was running. The motor shut off and a second later it crashed."

"When we got there it was all afire, except in back. The flames rose 100 feet or so. I couldn't see any people in the cabin because of the flames, but could see two up front. The trees nearby were burning."

GERMAN-CZECH TENSION AGAIN RISING

officers were picked to place them.

The Czechs fear Hitler one day may march his army into their nation to try to bring the 3,500-000 German minority into his Greater Germany.

Czechs also were resentful that Konrad Henlein, Nazi leader in this country, was asked to deliver the funeral oration.

Several Czechs described Hitler's gesture as insolence. One referred to "reaching across the boundary of a foreign state, making heroes of a couple of Sudeten Germans who failed to halt when they were challenged."

ULTIMATUM FEARED
Apprehension and bitterness grew in Czech political circles with reports from Berlin anti-Czech reports were being distributed in tremendous volume, reminiscent of the anti-Soviet schilling drive before his removal as Austria's chancellor and the annexation of Austria.

Some Czech observers interpreted all this as an indication Hitler was on the point of pre-sentsing an ultimatum to Praha, demanding the withdrawal of Czech troops from the border region.

READY TO FIGHT
One heard on every hand a defiant reiteration of Czech determination to fight, rather than submit—in the confident expectation the democracies of the world would fight with Czechoslovakia to preserve her independence.

A ceremony of quite another character took place in the courtyard of Praha's historic Hradcany—medieval castle of the Bohemian kings.

Forty thousand school children representing all Czechoslovakia's nationalities—many of them dressed in national costumes—marched through the capital's streets and up the hill to the castle to bring greetings to President Eduard Benes, who will be 54 years old next Sunday.

Each group in its own language addressed the President through its spokesman, and Benes replied in the same language—Czech, German, Hungarian, Slovakian, Roumanian, Ruthenian or Polish.

EGER, Czechoslovakia (AP)—
Fifty thousand Sudeten Germans lining the streets of this ancient town today bowed in silent tribute as coffins of two of their fellows, killed in last Saturday's border shooting, passed.

All shops of Eger, called the most German city in Czechoslovakia, were closed during the funeral. Black flags fluttered from windows of centuries-old houses.

Order was preserved along the cobblestoned streets by Sudeten German Party men in uniform—black boots, riding breeches and grey shirts.

Reinforcements consisting of 200 Czechoslovak gendarmes were sent to Eger as a precaution, but on orders from the Praha government they remained in bat-racks subject to call in case of emergency.

HENLEIN SPEAKS
Konrad Henlein in his funeral eulogy, said, addressing the two dead men:

"Your sacrifice should be a permanent and silent sign to us."
Mounting a great three-tiered black catafalque after the coffins had been placed on the lowest tier, the Sudeten leader declared:

"In the name of all our comrades and the whole Sudeten people, I came to bring you a last greeting. Bravely, you are struck down by fatal bullets.

"We are most deeply moved and shocked, as are all Germans wherever they live.

"We dip our flag for a last greeting to our dead brothers.
May German earth lie light upon them."

WREATHS FROM HITLER
Two six-foot fir wreaths from Hitler were laid on the caskets.
As church bells pealed, the funeral procession re-formed and moved away toward the victims' home villages.

The funeral honoring Georg Hoffman and Nikolaus Boettin, shot as they sped past a police barracks near the German front, was held in an atmosphere of tension that pervaded Czechoslovakia and spread beyond its borders.

Wheat and Flax Topple 5 Cents

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg
May and July wheat and all flax futures crashed 5¢ today on general liquidation and stop-loss selling that followed 2¢ breaks at Liverpool and Chicago yesterday.

Final wheat values were 5 to 4¢ lower, May $11.17, July
$6.64 and October 78½ to 78¢.
October wheat price since midsummer of 1936, and July was below the 1937 bottom level of 97½¢.

Good showers over the prairie spring wheat belt and grain trade belief that estimates of the United States southwest winter wheat crop would exceed 754,000-000 bushels were major bearish factors.

Winnipeg wheat leadership in pushing wheat down and its influence prompted marked weakness in Chicago May wheat today.
All Liverpool futures touched new lows for the season, finishing 1½ to 1½¢ lower. Buenos Aires was on holiday.

Cash wheat dealings were virtually non-existent. Nos. 1 and 2 Northern and No. 1 Garnet were cleared through the clearing house on May contracts with deliveries totaling 169,000 bushels.

Flax, on several sales, slumped
5¢. Oats were off more than 2¢, barley ¼ to ½¢ and rye 3 to 1½¢ near the close.

DECLINES OF MINOR FRACTIONS
To more than a point were registered by Northern Pacific 4's, Southern Pacific 4's of 1938, Burlington 4's, Santa Fe 4's of 1935 and Great Northern 4's of 1936 "C".

U.S. governments took a downward slant after early narrow irregularity. Losses ranged to 6 3/4¢ of a point.

The foreign dollar list picked up a little strength despite European tension, although Panama
5's dipped more than 5¢.

Forty bonds, 86.45, off 0.34.

NEW YORK (AP)—Major foreign currencies were pounded into further new low ground for the year today as European capital—once more on the march before continental war scares—sought safety in the dollar.

Noranda Climbs In Falling Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market quickened its step on the downtrail today, retreating before a steady inflow of offerings which met apathetic buying support.

Commodities set the pace on the deflation path. A sharp turn in May wheat at Chicago broke the focus sharply on the renewed descent of major staples into new low ground for the 1937-38 downsweep.

Losses of fractions to more than two points but leading industrial shares at the lowest levels of the reaction from the April-May rally tops. Wider clines were recorded in a few of the more inactive issues such as Eastman Kodak and Allied Chemical.

Transactions picked up a little,
approximating 550,000 shares.
Wheat finished 5 to 5 1/2¢ off a bushel lower. Corn was off 3 to 1 1/2¢. Hides, copper futures and other staples fell in step on the decline.

Secondary railroad lines hampered rallying efforts in other sections of the Bond Market and in late dealings losses in all sections of the list outnumbered gains.
